BACK IN 1980 the Carmel River had strong flows, abundant fish and healthy vegetation, something that has been lacking with the recent drought-like conditions in the past year. One of the goals of the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District with the proposed New San Clemente Dam is to renew the river's fish, wildlife and vegetation, replenish the valley's aquifers, and provide an ample water supply well into the next century. Not necessarily THE dam

Supervisors support a dam on Carmel River

By DAVID LELAND

GIVEN THE fact that at least part of the county is facing drought-like conditions, the Monterey County Board of Supervisors Tuesday adopted a resolution supporting a dam on the Nov. 3 ballot.

The board, however, stopped short of coming out directly in support of the $44 million New San Clemente Dam project, which will be before about 58,000 county voters next month in an advisory vote.

"The only alternative for increasing the water situation is some sort of dam in the county," said 2nd District Supervisor Barbara Shipnuck. "We support a new dam, not the new dam."

The lone dissenting member on the five-person board was 3rd District Supervisor Dusan Petrovic, whose Salinas Valley area has ample water supplies at this time.

"All you would do is supply water to a relatively small part of the county. I will not recommend this when I know there is an abundance of water in other areas," he said. "I believe this is the wrong approach."

Petrovic said he was bitter about the county abandoning the proposed Arroyo Seco project in 1984, which would have put a dam in the Salinas Valley near Greenfield and provided water to the entire peninsula.

Initially the board had before it a resolution that supported the dam, citing drought cycles, increasing water storage capacity, carrying out planned coastal growth, restoring the Carmel River and the Carmel Valley aquifer.

And while those are still goals of the board, members believed that more study needed to be done before a blanket endorsement can be given.

Now the resolution reads that the board favors the "pursuit" of the New San Clemente Dam after state and federal environmental guidelines have been fulfilled.

The hearing, scheduled for just a few minutes on the board's agenda, ran more than an hour, as the controversial item heated up.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letters to the editor are welcome. Views on all matters are acceptable, following the guidelines of good taste. While there is no limit on length, brevity is encouraged. Letters are subject to editing for style and length. Each letter must contain name, address and signature. A phone number is needed for verification only. Anonymous letters are not accepted.

Control of tour buses

Dear Editor:

Besides the prime overview problems (land use, traffic, services, etc.) for Carmel government a major street condition which requires immediate action is the regulating of tour buses presence.

It is considered that there is a measurable limit to the number of buses the presence of which can be practically endured in a given time period, and that provision of added parking locations will not relieve the stress.

A timing and control of buses is needed. A "time-ticket" control can be established for buses based on numbers it is concluded can be endured after existing transport movement, commercial vehicle double-parking, and all other traffic parking experiences are examined.

Entrance tickets to Carmel for particular time periods could be assigned to bus companies until the pre-determined capacity limit concluded to be endurable is reached...This approach has been used in national parks and elsewhere and it has proven to be practical.

Allocation for buses to enter the city by a "time-ticket" control system should also take into consideration air pollution, overall water consumption which can be sensibly endured (toilet and other service uses), impact on aesthetics and on resident/citizenry comfort.

There is a major stress condition posed here by the current unlimited entrance and presence of buses...not to control buses presence in Carmel as envisioned will make unendurable free unlimited entrance into Carmel, movement on streets, and traffic/parking conditions overall.

Citizens/residents of Carmel can assist their government to take necessary action.

Jumping through hoops

Dear Editor:

Residents of the unincorporated Carmel areas should wake up and take note. Our board of supervisors just extended an emergency ordinance that limits what property owners can do with their own property.

As a result of differing opinions on Carmel Point the remaining 70 percent of the unincorporated areas are about to be lumped in and all restricted en mass. I concur that controls are needed but shouldn't they be administered selectively as necessary? Wake up, wake up — more hoops to jump through are coming.

Sweet music

Dear Editor:

How great that the Carmel High School band and orchestra has been invited to Australia to perform at the World Expo next June.

What was not mentioned in the Pine Cone article was that a great amount of guidance and practice hours had to have taken place before high school in order to develop such outstanding music students. In other words, hooray for the music teachers at elementary and middle school.

Dick Robins, Carmel High School music instructor, must have felt most grateful for this background during his year of dedication toward molding the group(s) into professional units so professional that they were able to win over 1,000 other entries.

These kids are terrific and so are the teachers behind them!

Carmel's finest

Dear Editor:

The Carmel Police Department and particularly officers Lunsford, Clark, Patterson and Bowman, deserve a strong commendation and applause for the high degree of professionalism, finesse, decorum, warmth and courtesy displayed at the John Lennon opening at Dyansen Gallery in Carmel.

Their management of crowd and traffic flow and the provision of safe passage for Yoko Ono was laudable.

Thank you to Carmel's finest.

A great salute

Dear Editor:

The Forest Theater Guild has just completed a very successful 37th season of productions at Carmel's historic outdoor Forest Theater. Our dedicated and generous corps of actors, musicians, director, producers, technicians and their assistants, and other indispensable volunteers have worked together giving both residents and visitors a summer of colorful and entertaining community theater.

We raise our hats in a great salute to all of you. Thanks.

Solution at hand?

Dear Editor:

During the 40 years I have lived in Carmel parking has been a topic of conversation, though obviously nothing much but talk has taken place. Now there is a chance that a solution may be at hand.

I believe the city should buy the Handley property. It is too good an opportunity to pass up and several things could be done with it, all of which would be beneficial to the residents. The needs of these people should never be lost sight of since they are supposed to come first, according to the laws.

The prime consideration should be to plan how to take care of a lot of cars. Some of the property is on a slope which could be used for several layers of a parking garage, and on top there could be a beautiful park with restrooms, benches to sit on, perhaps even a basketball court, tennis court, shuffleboard, ping pong, badminton or something of this kind.

There would also be room for low-cost housing. If this is too far for some people to walk to town, a shuttle bus could be operated from this area down to the foot of Ocean Avenue with a few stops along the way. A sign at Ocean Avenue and Junipero, indicating parking to the right, would deflect cars so they would not clutter the streets looking for parking.

I am definitely against the city losing control over parking by turning it over to a group of private citizens who would build a parking garage at Sunset Center. I understand they also want to take over all the parking at the center buildings.

This is a residential area, and charging for parking there would put more cars farther into it which is unfair to the people who have bought property to be near town. I'm sure it would make people angry to have to pay for parking to attend classes, concerts, etc. at Sunset Center. In fact, they might well stay away altogether. After all, everything competes with TV.

I think Carmel should recognize the fact that it is a shopping center in competition with the Crossroads, Barnyard, and Del Monte Shopping Center, which have unlimited free parking. Therefore, Carmel must supply free parking. An hour to park in the center of town does not allow enough time to shop, browse, eat, have hair done or much of anything else. It is as if people are not being encouraged to spend their money here, yet I am sure any business would like more customers.

Lots of consideration must be given to the above before a decision is made, but certainly parking in private hands at Sunset is a bad answer. The space on the north end is a dedicated field anyway, and the only thing that might be excusable there would be a layer or two of parking with a playing field on top on higher than San Carlos, under the jurisdiction of the city and not leased out to private individuals. Certainly there should be no charge for parking there!

Voice of reason

AS AN important election approaches the rhetoric usually heats up a few weeks in advance, this year's Nov. 3rd spectacle in no exception.

There have been more "candidates' forums" already held or scheduled to be held than in any election in recent memory, even more than the celebrated council race here in Carmel in 1986. In this year's election the Monterey County Election Department has 47 school districts, special districts, bond issues and measures to keep track of, including those from the far reaches of the county (Coalinga-Huron School District?), to right here at home (Carmel Unified School District). Measures include whether King City should compensate its city council members to whether Pebble Beach should adopt police services.

But in this year's election the ballot measure that will draw the most attention and the election that will draw the most controversy — no surprise here unless you just got back from Nepal — are the advisory vote on a new dam on the Carmel River and election of members to the board of the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District.

There are 11 candidates (maybe 10 — one is reputed to have dropped out), for three seats, there are a number of slates (both for and against the dam), a few individualists, and, as you can imagine, a lot of rhetoric. Most of the candidates are for a dam, but how big, where to put it and what its function will be, are the central issues dogging the rhetoric.

With that in mind the water district is circulating a four-page supplement on the proposed New San Clemente Dam, which you will find in the center of this week's Carmel Pine Cone.

This "Citizen's Guide to the New San Clemente Dam Project," describes the new dam and why it is needed. It outlines some of the action that has been taken, provides a summary of the project's impact on water supply, the environment and growth, and compares it to several alternatives, including a "no-dam" scenario.

The supplement also provides sources of more detailed information, describes the environmental review process and explains how the reader can comment on the draft EIR, which is available at district office and local libraries.

Some people may cry "foul!" and charge bias because the supplement was put together by the district with help from a paid consultant. But this insert was written and edited by district staff — a non-political body — not by the district board, which is a political body. It was also written by Henrietta Stern, project coordinator, who may be the most knowledgeable person on the dam and its alternatives, and edited by Bruce Buel, who may be the second most knowledgeable (or is it the other way around?).

This supplement may also be the most reasoned and rational document on the dam we could see all year. Of course it leans heavily on the need for a new dam; anyone who says there is no need for a dam is not only looking at the present with blinders on, but is looking at the future in an unrealistic light.

And if you're going to use something as a convenient and reliable source for arguments — both for and against a dam — you probably need look no further than the center of the newspaper you're holding in your hands.

Court won't jail man in failed murder-suicide

By DAVID LELAND

IT IS not the district attorney's intent to put Henry Palmer behind bars for allegedly trying to kill himself and his wife, but merely to help the elderly Carmel Valley man, according to Eugene Martinez, assistant district attorney.

The 83-year-old Palmer last week pleaded innocent to charges of manslaughter and battery before Municipal Court Judge Terrance Duncan.

"We are going to ask for sentencing that will give the court a handle on the defendant," said Martinez in a telephone interview. He added that the judge's options range from parole to counseling for the family.

HENRY PALMER, 83, of Carmel Valley, shown appearing last week in court, has been accused of manslaughter and battery in the unsuccessful murder-suicide of his wife and himself by attaching a hose from the tailpipe of the couple's car into the passenger area Sept. 6. The district attorney's office has decided not to seek a jail term, but instead will try to help the family cope with its problems. (Photo courtesy of the Associated Press.)

Palmer is accused of attempting to kill himself and his wife Martha, 84, by attaching a hose from the tailpipe into the passenger part of their car, which was parked alongside Robinson Road in Carmel Valley on Sept. 6.

Martha Palmer is disabled from Alzheimer's disease and remains in a convalescent hospital.

It was his wife's disease, the district attorney claims, that drove Palmer to his act of desperation.

Palmer left a note to his daughter and son-in-law saying he feared he would die before his wife and did not want the burden of care to fall on the children.

Duncan set Nov. 4 for a preliminary hearing on the two felony counts.

The unusual circumstances surrounding the deed have prompted a large degree of public concern, according to Fred Herro, a public defender who is representing Palmer.

Many believe that felony charges should never have been filed in the first place, but Herro is not critical of the process.

"The D.A. does what he has to do," he said. "The question is: Will the system respond under these unusual circumstances?"

Indeed, it is not the D.A.'s choice whether to file or not, Martinez said — it's the law.

"We're obligated to file charges. We couldn't really avoid doing that," said the assistant district attorney. "If we did, it would create the more troublesome problem of where you draw the line."

Herro said he felt compelled to defend Palmer. As the public defender who assigns cases, he appointed himself.

Herro added that his client would not be available for interviews until details of the case are discussed further.

•

WHLE IT is not uncommon for older people to either talk about or actually commit suicide, there are few legal cases that reflect similar circumstances to the Palmer case.

"Clearly we are getting a large number of calls from people 65 and over," said Jim Stoll, director of Suicide Prevention Center of Monterey County. "It's really loneliness, isolation and fear of being able to cope."

Stoll added that his office does not keep records or statistics regarding attempted or successful double suicide/murders by elderly couples.

"I don't know if there is an increase or not (with despondent couples)," he said. "But the incidence of suicide in seniors in general is up."

The only fatal case that comes to mind concerning an elderly couple did not involve an attempted suicide, but, instead, gained nationwide attention for murder.

'We're obligated to file charges. We couldn't really avoid doing that. If we did, it would create the more troublesome problem of where you draw the line.'
— Eugene Martinez, Assistant district attorney

In 1985, Florida resident Roswell Gilbert, then 76, shot his wife Emily in the head two times with a handgun. Emily Gilbert, then 73, had suffered from Alzheimer's disease.

The primary difference in that case is the prosecution claimed that Gilbert had wanted to do away with his wife because she had hindered his lifestyle.

The judge agreed and handed down a life sentence for first-degree murder, with a mandatory 25 years to be served before parole could be considered.

Gilbert's daughter has vainly sought for clemency from the governor for her father's release from the Florida prison where he is serving his time.

NBC last January broadcast a television movie called Mercy or Murder, which focused renewed attention on the case.

But Palmer's situation is somewhat different, with the only common threads being that both accused men had wives with the same debilitating disease and had had no trouble with the law until late in life.

But one thing is certain, both men will be supervised in some fashion by the court in the years to come.

Investigators will keep closer eye out for art fraud

By DAVID LELAND

NOBODY ON the newly formed, 10-member task force examining art fraud in Carmel accuses any one gallery in particular, but it should be known that quality control measures are being stepped up.

Last Friday in a jury room housed within the courthouse in Monterey, Assemblyman Sam Farr gave notice that the committee will begin to enforce what he described as an already weak law. This law states that galleries must provide documentation of the origins of the artwork they sell.

"Maybe some rotten apples, if there are rotten apples, will have to be prosecuted," he said.

Also attending the meeting were prosecutors from the district attorney's office, members of the peninsula art community, representatives of state Sen. Henry Mello's office, the director of the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art and a member of the area's Better Business Bureau.

Currently art stores are bound by a law that is difficult to enforce, but when broken, carries a $500 fine.

The 1982 statute states that the following information must be made available to the art buyer: the name of the artist, whether the work is a multiple, a description of the process, if the multiple was made from a master and whether the edition is being offered as a limited edition.

Art galleries are also required to post a notice telling the prospective buyer that this information is available.

The Carmel Business Association sent letters to each gallery about a year ago advising gallery owners of this law.

And while art collector Mike Andrews, who was the catalyst for the meeting, told the group that only seven galleries have a notice posted, no citations have been issued.

Part of that problem, according to Douglas Matheson, an assistant district attorney attending the meeting, is that his office needs a signed declaration that states there has been no notice posted.

"I've been with the district attorney three years," he said. "And I'm sure we haven't prosecuted any art fraud."

Compounding the problem involving posting is there is no standardized signage issued by the state or county. Farr said he will introduce legislation early next year that will put those wheels into motion.

Members of the task force do not expect to see pronounced results from enforcing the disclosure rules, but they do believe it will be a start.

"The sign won't change any practices," Andrews said. "But it will tell the galleries that somebody's watching."

•

ART FRAUD is nothing new. In fact, it's as old as history and the problem is worldwide.

Recently in Honolulu, federal authorities raided an art gallery and closed it down after seizing allegedly faked works attributed to Spanish surrealist Salvador Dali.

The main problem in tracking down art fraud, according to Paul Minicucci, consultant to the state joint committee on the arts, is to find a victim.

Minicucci has been attempting to work at a state level in stopping the forgeries. He has contacted the office of the attorney general — to no avail.

"Except for extremely minor violations, the investigations did not prove fruitful," wrote Herschel Elkins, senior assistant attorney general, referring to complaints his office has received. "Either consumers refused to testify or there was a battle of experts. In the past 15 years, we have not had one verifiable complaint."

One of the problems in getting people that have purchased fraudulent artwork to testify is that many times they do not know they have been bilked. And if they do find out, they are embarrassed.

"Some people really do not want to know," said artist John Mason, who has mounted an attack on what he calls less-than-honest art galleries in Carmel.

But if by chance a person does find out that they didn't buy what they thought they did, the law of economics sometimes enters into the picture.

"I've talked to people who have bought these forgeries and they say 'maybe we can palm them off on someone else,' " Mason said.

There are also the people who don't really care if a piece of work is what it's cracked up to be — they still like it.

"There are victims, but they don't consider themselves damaged," said Matheson.

The two principal culprits being blamed as methods of forgery are multiple originals — where an artist is contracted to paint the same work many times — and a sophisticated mechanical process where the paintings are duplicated.

According to state law, it is actually illegal to term any work done under contract by an artist for commercial use as "fine art."

For the first time in the battle against art fraud in the area, the district attorney's office is now ready to step into the ring.

Having recently received funding from the county to set up a fraud division, Matheson said one of the first jobs the fraud investigator will perform is to check into the practices of Carmel art galleries. The job won't be easy, there are more than 40 art galleries in downtown alone.

CVPOA sponsors candidates' night

A PUBLIC forum for Carmel Valley residents to hear candidates for three seats on the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District board will be held Tuesday Oct. 27 by the Carmel Valley Property Owners Associaton, its president, R.T. Nimmons, announced.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Coats Mall at All-Saints Episcopal Day School on Carmel Valley Road.

The meeting will provide five minutes for each candidate after which there will be questions from the audience. A moderator will preside. The meeting will be open to members of CVPOA and to the general public as well.

High blood pressure common in U.S.

According to recent American Heart Association estimates, in U.S. adults aged 18-74, 33 percent of white males, 38 percent of black males, 25 percent of white females and 39 percent of black females have high blood pressure.

News notes:

Planners to review general plan update

THE CARMEL Planning Commission and the Carmel General Plan once again have a date to check each other out.

The planning staff is busy putting together a General Plan update that will reflect the changes the commission has made over the past few months of the version proposed by the General Plan review committee.

The update will include a reformating of the plan which the commission felt makes the goals, policies and objectives easier to assimilate.

The commission will review the plan's progress at 3 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 21 in Carmel City Council Chambers. The meeting is primarily for information and is not intended as a public hearing where the commission will take comments on the plan.

The commission has been reviewing and suggesting changes in the plan and its elements since March.

Planning Director Diane White said that drafts have been completed of the Introduction and the Land Use, Circulation and Socio-Cultural elements. Significant Buildings and Open Space and Conservation still had to be finished as of the beginning of this week and may not be complete by the meeting date.

The Noise and Public Safety Element has been completed, but issues raised by the planning commission on the element still need to be reviewed, she said. Those issues include ways to reduce truck noise and updating data.

The Housing Element will be reviewed at a later date, White explained. The Housing Element has come under fire from the state and may require some major revisions.

The commission will have a complete review with public comment on the changes to the general plan later in the year when a new draft copy is issued. The commission is not scheduled to officially finalize any of its decisions at this review.

Supes to hear appeal on Stewart property

THE MONTEREY County Board of Supervisors has scheduled two hours next week to hear an appeal of a building permit issued for a home on the Stewart property.

The permit, issued to Michael King, is for an almost 23-foot, two-story home, which would take up about 35 percent of the lot.

The appellant, Carmel Point resident Charles Chrietzberg, claims that the proposed home would block the view of the bay, increase traffic problems and generally not fit into the character of the neighborhood.

While the board earlier this month passed a height and bulk ordinance that limits homes to 18 feet in height unless a variance is obtained, King was issued his permits before that ordinance became law.

The Stewart property is bordered by Scenic Road and Ocean View and Isabella avenues. There are eight lots of record on the 39,000-square foot parcel, of which King owns four.

Chrietzberg and Carmel Point residents have tried to persuade Bay Area-based Scenic Associates, which has six partners besides King, to coordinate building on the property.

But thus far the owners of the Stewart property have declined — there is no law which says the owners need to come up with a master plan.

If Chrietzberg wins his appeal, King will be forced to resubmit his plans to the Monterey County Planning Department. His new plans would be restricted by the emergency ordinance.

The item is scheduled to come before the board at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 20 in the supervisors chambers in the courthouse in Salinas.

Water awareness topic of events set for Oct. 19-24

WATER, WATER everywhere.

It's only a coincidence, but just in time for the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District board election and an advisory vote on the proposed New San Clemente Dam, a statewide water awarness week has been declared for Oct. 19 through Oct. 24.

Numerous activities have been planned throughout Monterey County, including seminars here on the peninsula that might be of interest to residents interested in water issues.

- 9:30 a.m., Monday, Oct. 19 at David Avenue and Terry Street in Pacific Grove.

Dedication of Historic Pacific Grove Reservoir. Guest speaker is Sandy Lydon, author of Chinese Gold, the Chinese in the Monterey Bay Region.

- Starting 9:30 a.m., Tuesday, Oct. 20 tours are scheduled for the various wastewater treatment plants and California-American Water Co. facilities. Contact Bruce Laclerque at the Monterey County Flood Control and Water Conservation District at 424-0866 in Salinas for more information.
- A seminar on "The New San Clemente Dam: Who Pays; Who Benefits?" 3:30 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 21 at Hartnell College. A panel will discuss the issues.
- "Hydrology for the Layperson" presented by Joe Oliver, geohydrologist for the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District. Begins 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 22 at Monterey Peninsula College, Lecture Room 101.

For more information on these or the many other activities not listed here, contact Linda Morris at California-American Water Co., 373-3051.

A daily $5 drawing for water conservation hints will be conducted daily from Monday, Oct. 19 through Friday, Oct. 23 in the Harrison Memorial Library in Carmel and the Pacific Grove Public Library.

Red Cross offers speaker training

THE CARMEL Chapter of the American Red Cross will offer a free training course for AIDS speakers this month.

Classes will be held from 6 to 10 p.m. Monday Oct. 26 and Thursday, Oct. 29 at the Red Cross chapter house, Dolores and Eighth in Carmel. The free eight-hour class will be taught by Dr. Mimi Fields, chief of preventive medicine at Fort Ord, and Willie Marshall, community health nurse for the Fort Ord HIV/AIDS program.

Those wishing to attend must have completed a basic AIDS education class, also offered by the chapter. To pre-register call 624-6921.

Blood pressure should be lowered

High blood pressure adds to the work-load of the heart and arteries, which may contribute to stroke, heart atta ck, kidney failure, and congestive heart failure. There is accumulating evidence that lowering blood pressure reduces the risk of stroke and coronary heart disease, according to the American Heart Association.

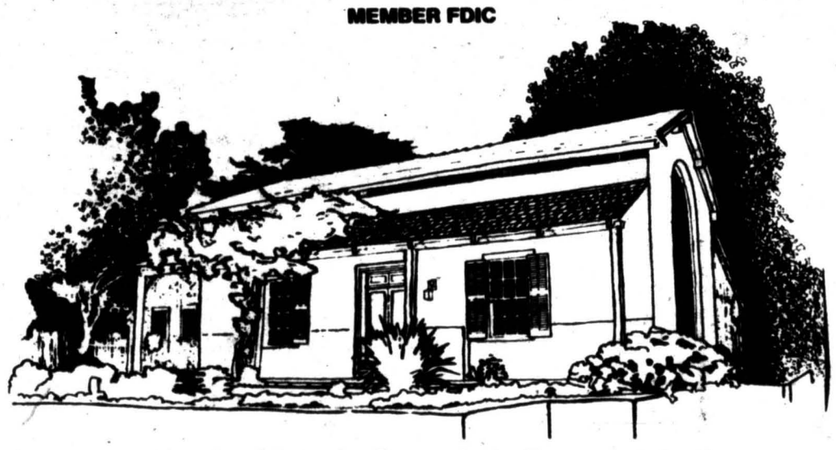

Airport newsletter is available

Celebrities go to the net for cancer victim

By MAC McDONALD

LINDSEY WILDER'S chances are improving every day and they stand to improve even more after Nov. 8.

Wilder, a 16-year-old from Carmel Valley, is suffering from a rare form of bone cancer called Ewing's Sarcoma. Ten years ago there was no cure, now, thanks to work by Dr. Bernard Salick and Dr. Gerald Rosen at the Salick Health Care Center in Los Angeles, Wilder's chances for recovery are at a healthy 85 percent. And after the 8th — with the help of a long roster of celebrities — her chances should improve.

LINDSEY WILDER and her mother Liane Wilder-Pfaff in January, about 10 days after a two-day session of chemotherapy to help fight a rare form of bone cancer Lindsey suffers from.

That's because on the weekend of Nov. 6, 7 and 8 the first Lindsey Wilder Celebrity Pro-Am Tennis Tournament makes its debut at the Carmel Valley Ranch Resort tennis courts. Already committed to the event are such top pros as Charlie Pasarell, Tom Gorman, Marty Riessen, Mike Trabert, Jaime Fillol and John Austin, as well as celebrity tennis players such as basketball's Julius "Dr. J" Erving, Jackie Cooper, Ed Ames, Judy Norton-Taylor of The Waltons and Lucinda Crosby. Other top names invited, but so far not committed, include Clint Eastwood, Johnny Carson, Gene Hackman, Chris Evert, Jimmy Conners, Vijay Armitraj, Bjorn Borg, Tracey Austin, Bill Cosby, Ahmad Rashad and his wife Phylicia of The Cosby Show.

Proceeds of the tournament will help offset the enormous costs of the teenager's treatment, and if possible, help other families whose children are suffering catastrophic illnesses.

All this is the brainchild of Candice Gregory, a Realtor Associate with Fox & Carskadon in Carmel who became friends with Lindsey and her mother Liane when the two women worked at the tennis shop at Carmel Valley Ranch. Gregory got involved a few months after Lindsey was diagnosed with the cancer early this year.

"I've pretty much been working on it day and night for the past few months," admits a winded Gregory, who had just flown in from Palm Springs where she had been on a "recruiting" trip to do the interview. "People have been extremely receptive. As soon as you talk about children and cancer, it touches a lot of people."

•

GREGORY SAYS that when the idea for a fund-raiser first came up, she discounted the suggestions for a cocktail party or barbecue and instead opted to go for something bigger. If you're going to dream, dream big, she figured.

"I didn't realize how many people I knew," she laughs. "But I grew up here, I know a lot of people and I've always been involved. It's exciting how it's pulled together so fast."

Gregory hopes to have 50 "playing sponsors" and 50 celebrities and pros for the tournament, which will also include an auction. At this point Gregory is still trying to rouse up a few more donations for the auction, volunteers to help out in any way, more players/sponsors, and even housing for those involved.

Lindsey, now living in Palm Desert with her mother so they can be close to her treatment center, is a third generation Carmel Valleyite who is a "hit and giggle" tennis player and once babysat many of the touring players' children. She has undergone chemotherapy for the past several months and recently received a prosthesis after surgery in which her shoulder blade and rotator cuff were removed. Since then there have been expensive and intensive treatment and physical therapy. "The treatments are really, really rugged," says Gregory.

Gregory adds that she hopes the tournament is one that will continue for a long time.

"We're going to make some good money. We'd like to help other families too. If it is a success, we will set up a non-profit corporation."

There has been some question about organizing such a large event in such a short span, but Gregory brushes aside those comments.

"People say, 'Why don't you wait until next year?', well that'll be too late, the family needs the money now."

But there may be other reasons to have a celebrity tournament in an area that has its share of celebrities and fund-raising events.

"The area's really ready for another celebrity tournament, and it's for a great cause," says the ever-enthusiastic Gregory. "It'll be so much fun, too."

To get involved or to make donations contact Gregory at 625-9300 or 625-0508.

Water candidates forum scheduled

A FORUM for candidates seeking election to the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District board will be held Oct. 29.

The forum will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 29 at Rancho Canada golf club in Carmel Valley, one-half mile east of Highway 1 on Carmel Valley Road.

All 11 candidates have been invited. Each will be allowed three minutes to present their views. There will also be a question-and-answer session.

The forums are sponsored by the Monterey County Democratic Central Committee and are open to the public.

Communities stayed within their water allocations

By NANCY HILLS

WATER USE is up on the peninsula, but none of the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District jurisdictions exceeded their annual allocations.

That was the determination of the water board Oct. 12 when it conducted its annual review of the district members' water consumption and compliance with their individual water allocation limits.

By law, if any had exceeded their allocation, the board would have to impose a water connection moratorium on the community or communities that used more than their annual water allotment.

Overall, metered water sales show the peninsula used 3 percent more water than last year, which is 1 percent greater than the increase last year, according to the district staff report.

Both Carmel and Pacific Grove demonstrated a drop in consumption, the report said, with increases in Monterey County and Seaside. Smaller increases were detected in Sand City, Monterey and Del Rey Oaks.

Water board chairman Dick Heuer said he believed that the county's increase could be due in part to the new Spanish Bay and Poppy Hills golf courses coming on line. The county's use registered at 92.74 percent.

Comparisons with last year's figures are difficult because a meter audit in January changed the county's and the city of Monterey's base consumption figures.

The peninsula-wide increase may be due to favorable mortgage rates which could have prompted more building in the area, the staff report states.

Carmel showed a 2 percent drop in its water use, bringing its consumption down to 98 percent. Last year, Carmel exceeded its allocation and was temporarily under a water connection moratorium.

The city imposed a water connection priority ordinance of its own after the district lifted its ban. Carmel also initiated a conservation program to bring the city's water consumption down.

The moratorium prompted the city to sue the water district over the allocation system, which divides the water supply among the district's seven communities.

The district is conducting an environmental impact report on the allocation system as a part of that lawsuit's agreement. An administrative draft EIR has been completed, but a district disclaimer warns that the information contained in the document has not been reviewed, checked or proofed. As it stands, the board has not accepted the report but will review a draft in November.

If accepted, it will become the official draft for comment by the public.

As it now stands, a cursory check of the more than 200-page report shows it makes no specific recommendation about increasing the water production cap of 20,000 acre feet set by the district.

However, it does indicate that increasing the limit by another 500 acre feet would have little impact on the already environmentally damaged Carmel River. If the board accepts that viewpoint, it could increase all the jurisdictions' allocations by a small amount.

An increase to almost 23,000 acre feet could have a severe impact on the environment, however.

The report also leans toward revising the numbers used to divvy up the resource among the district's cities and Monterey County. More recent growth figures and current water consumption statistics, rather than the 1979 numbers used for the present allocation, may be more realistic, the report states.

A certified EIR will not be ready until early next year, Heuer said, which would put the district in violation of the court order which states the report should be completed by December of this year.

Dam workshops to be held in mid-October

THE MONTEREY Peninsula Water Management District will conduct four workshops on the proposed New San Clemente Dam and the environmental impact report on the project.

The workshops as scheduled for:

- 3 p.m., Monday, Oct. 19 at the Carmel Valley Trail & Saddle Club.
- 7:30 p.m., Monday, Oct. 19 at the Crossroads Community Room.
- 3 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 20 at Seaside City Council Chambers.
- 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 20 at the Pacific Grove Community Center.

Water District General Manager Bruce Buel will act as the hearing officer and he and other staff members will answer questions about the project. Board members may be present but will not participate officially in any discussion.

Poll workers needed in valley

THE MONTEREY County Election Department is in need of poll workers in Carmel Valley for the Nov. 3 election.

"Election officers" will serve from 6:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 3 in Carmel Valley precincts. Workers will be paid $45 for the day. Duties include disbursing ballots and checking names on voter lists.

"We have inspectors at all precincts, but we need people to help them," said an election department clerk.

The only criteria is that the worker be a registered voter in the county. For more information call 424-7621 and ask for the poll worker clerk.

CELEBRATION OF ROAD BEGINNING OCT. 22

A change of date for the celebration of the beginning of work on the Carmel-San Simeon highway has been announced. It was first planned to have the barbecue picnic and speechmaking tomorrow, but at a meeting of the Monterey Chamber of Commerce the affair was postponed one week. So all the faithful will gather at the Big Sur next Sunday, October 22nd.

Concerning the Carmel-San Simeon highway, now under construction, a writer recently stated that it was the "most beautiful and spectacular highway ever constructed in California."

The building of this highway will give opportunity for the use of the most technical of engineering skill. The road, approximately 130 miles long, will pass through large sections of redwood forests, deep into canyons, and along precipitious cliffs. Scenic beauties that will rival any coast line scenery in the world will be discernible when the highway is built.

WORLD EMPIRE HOPE OF JAPAN, Carmel Forum Speaker Thelma B. Miller

That the military machine of China will probably break down within the next four months, leaving Japan free to complete her ambitious program in Asia, is the belief of Dr. N. Wing May, professor of social science at University of California, expressed in the opening lecture of Carmel Forum at Sunset school the evening of Oct. 7.

Dr. Mah believes that Japan's ambition is the complete subjugation of China, and after that, a "world empire" in the Orient. The intensive sensitive pride of the Japanese, he averred, will not be content until Japan holds an unquestioned place among the greatest nations of the world. If she succeeds in China, Dr. Mah believes, the next step will be the annexation of Eastern Siberia. And there she will run into the great, if temporarily crippled, war machine of Soviet Russia.

Germany and Italy are pledged to aid Japan in suppression of Communism. That will mean their automatic involvement in the coming world struggle. France has a military alliance with Russia. England has been working hand in hand with France in Europe. With this complicated tie-up of world interests, what chance has the United States of remaining uninvolved? None whatever, Dr. Mah assured his hearers in Sunset auditorium.

THE BACKGROUND ON JUNIPERO

Whether Junipero Avenue, with the basic potential to do so, is to become a hazardous thoroughfare rivaling the attractiveness of Ocean Avenue, or is to suffer the irreparable harm of having its broad, 100-foot right of way sacrificed to the satisfaction of the seemingly insatiable demand for parking is a drama being painfully and tediously written.

In one block parking at the curbs and in the center of the street has all but obliterated the sense of a broad and gracious avenue, substituting instead the oppressive feeling of a cramped and unlovely on-street parking lot. In another block, trees and shrubs still dominate, creating an altogether different mood expressive of the theme that an attractive appearance is of transcendent importance.

The fact that the struggle is episodic. That no cohesion or unity of purpose appears anywhere over the extended length of the street, indicates just how grave is the problem and how lacking in resolution is the feeling about it. And now another episode is issuing as the council considers the improvement of Junipero from 17th to 8th, and a repetition of the class contest looms; whether landscaping and environmental charm shall prevail, or the parking of cars shall be the overriding concern.

WHY 17,000 LOCAL LETTERS GOT POSTMARKED "SALINAS"

Mrs. Edna Muskie learned about it over the summer and now she is boiling.

"All this money is being spent to advertise beautiful Carmel by-the-Sea and our mail goes all over the world yet is postmarked 'Salinas,' " says Mrs. Muskie, 74, a retired postal worker who makes her home in Carmel.

To get a Carmel postmark, letters must be dropped in a special slot at the Carmel Post Office. Above the slot, a sign reads: "Out-of-Town Carmel Postmark."

Postmaster Frank Ledesma says there are four other drops scattered about town. They read "Carmel Only."

"That is misleading," declares Mrs. Muskie. "Why should they hide it? You have to play hide-and-seek to get the Carmel postmark."

Efficiency is the stated reason why Carmel mail goes to Salinas. Sophisticated sorting machines there can cancel up to 30,000 letters an hour while Carmel's machines do no better than 3,000 an hour, according to Ledesma. Salinas processes virtually all of the mail from Monterey County.

SANITARY DISTRICT READY FOR ACCESS ROAD DECISION

The Carmel Sanitary District Board of Directors may finally decide Oct. 21 on an access road to its proposed Rio Road office building. District Manager Michael Zambory will present a report on traffic counts and cost estimates when the board meets at 1:30 p.m. at Carmel City Hall.

Directors want to construct an office building on district property just south of Rio Road Youth Baseball Field, west of Highway 1 and north of Carmel River.

There has been no public opposition to the office site itself. However, an earlier proposed access route has already been discarded by directors because of strong community opposition. That road would have run south from Rio Road parallel with the Youth Baseball Field fence.

A decision has been postponed twice on an alternative proposal for an access road off Lausen Drive.

Schools would be shaky without parent support groups

By DAVID LELAND

THE CARMEL Unified School District's budget takes care of most of its students' basic educational needs. But beyond that the pickin's can get pretty slim — here's where parent support groups enter the picture.

Each of the CUSD's five schools have a small band of dedicated parents, often joined by interested members of the community, who dedicate their time to supplement varying programs, which sometimes get shortchanged at budget time.

"We wouldn't be able to fund some of the projects we do without the financial backing of all three groups," says Marie Ishida, principal at Carmel High School, referring to Padre Parents, Athletic Boosters and Mus Boosters.

All groups are composed of volunteer members and use the same methods to get money to back the different causes: membership and fund-raising.

During the next six weeks, The Pine Cone will be examining each school's support groups in hopes that interested parents will lend a hand in boosting educational opportunities for the students.

This week The Pine Cone will look at Carmel High School.

Padre Parents.

Known as the Parent Teacher Association (PTA) in many schools, the Padre Parents serves as a liaison between students, parents, teachers and the administration.

Currently boasting about 30 members, Gigi King, co-president, says everyone is welcome to join the ranks.

"Everybody in the school can be a member," says King, who adds that for $5 or more a person can join. "We like to have all of the parents involved at meetings."

• Padre Parents meets at 1 p.m. on the second Thursday of each month in Room 3 at Carmel High School.

The main form of fund-raising for the Padre Parents comes from volunteer workers operating the Bingmobile concession stands at various races held at Laguna Seca Raceway.

Last year, the Padre Parents raised about "$9,000 or $10,000," King said. Much of that money went to purchase new books for the students, upgrading the library and even bought a new trumpet for the band.

The group has also established a scholarship fund for graduating seniors based on scholastic achievement, school involvement and basic need.

Music Boosters.

The newest member of the high school's support team is the Music Boosters, which was formed in June of 1986.

Actually, the Boosters is an offshoot of the CUSD music committee and serves the entire district. But thus far the high school has been the only one in need, except for miscellaneous expenses at the Carmel Middle School.

With 20 full-time members and countless "periodic helpers," President Sharen Carey says the group helps the entire community — so everybody benefits.

"We welcome anyone who's interested," she says. "They don't even have to have a student at the school."

Musical performances by the orchestra, wind ensemble and jazz band all take place at Sunset Center, she says, which brings music to all of Carmel.

In just one year the Boosters managed to raise about $10,000, with all of that being distributed to music programs.

Here's a list of beneficiaries:

• Outfitted the wind ensemble and orchestra with tuxedos for the group's well-received show at Sunset Center.

• Sent the orchestra to Southern California for a music enrichment clinic.

• Purchased various instruments and repaired damaged ones.

• Set up a scholarship for a graduating senior who has been active in the music program.

The Music Boosters meets at 3 p.m. the second Tuesday of the month in the Music Room at the high school.

The main task ahead for the support group is to raise $110,000 to send the orchestra and band to Australia in June of 1988, where it has been picked from more than 1,000 candidates to perform in the U.S. pavilion at World Expo.

Athletic Boosters.

Supporting all of the sports programs at the high school, the Athletic Boosters provides the necessary money and leaves the needs up to the department.

For example, last year, part of the Boosters' $12,000 went toward installing windscreens on the tennis courts and purchasing blocking sleds for football.

With 100 dues-paying members and guided by a 25-person board, the group supports various fund-raising functions and attends the school's sports activities.

This year the Boosters are raffling off a 1987 Toyota Corolla donated by Victory Toyota; the drawing will be held Feb. 18.

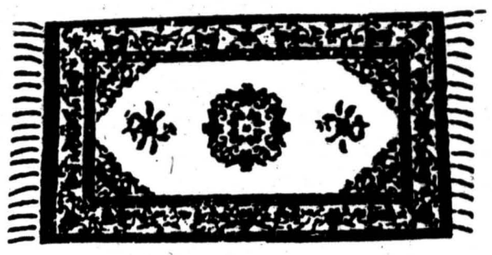

Tickets are $5 and can be purchased at sporting events and from booster club members.

OPEN LETTER TO THE U.S. SENATE

WE CANNOT AFFORD TO TAKE THE CHANCE WITH "JUSTICE BORK"!

Before the hearings, we published a statement calling upon the United States Senate to reject the nomination of Robert H. Bork as Associate Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court.

We opposed his confirmation because we believed that his interpretation of the Constitution placed many of our basic freedoms in jeopardy. These include citizen access to the courts, privacy and reproductive rights; First Amendment freedoms of speech, press and separation of church and state; civil rights including application of the equal protection clause to women and voting rights; and his deference to the powers of the presidency expressed in his firing of special prosecutor Archibald Cox at President Nixon's request.

The hearings have done nothing to allay our concerns in these vital areas.

We have listened to twelve days of hearings and the testimony of scores of witnesses, including Judge Bork himself. They established that Judge Bork is articulate, academically qualified and personally likeable. But despite Bork's efforts to soften the impact of his past, often expressed, legal opinions, he failed to convince us that he has substantially altered his dogmatic theories or understands their harmful impact on the lives of real people. We believe these views render him unfit to serve on the U.S. Supreme Court.

We are struck by many ironies in the hearings:

- Witnesses from organizations which support Judge Bork because they hope that he will overturn Supreme Court decisions on abortion, affirmative action and school prayers endeavoring to assure the Senate that Bork will do no such thing.

- Senators whose political careers are marked by their intolerance of the rights of minorities portraying Bork as a great champion of civil rights. (If Bork really were the person they describe, his most fervent Senate supporters would be leading a filibuster against his confirmation.)

- Repeated accusations — now being voiced with new fervor by President Reagan — that those who speak for the great number of Americans who believe that the Supreme Court must be kept a defender of individual liberties represent "special interests." We are proud to be associated with the "special interests" of this vast and inclusive movement of concerned citizens, who are truly freedom fighters.

WE HAVE LISTENED AND LEARNED FROM THE HEARINGS. WE URGE THE SENATE TO EXERCISE ITS CO-EQUAL CONSTITUTIONAL RESPONSIBILITY AND REJECT THE NOMINATION OF JUDGE BORK.

The Senate is closely divided. Your message can make a difference!

DOLLARS & SENSE

By Anthony Piazza & Marshall Bloom

The Conference Call Conclusion All the bells and whistles

"OKAY, I put money into an annuity and I get guarantee of principal and interest and total tax-deferral as well as probate-free consequences for my heirs. How about me? When can I get at the money and what options are there to consider? Give me all the bells and whistles."

Those intrepid investment detectives, Bloom and Piazza, renowned for their profound advice as far away as Prunedale, were engaged in a conference call on their new telephone equipment with their old friend, Jasper the Giant, a dwarf dentist from Los Angeles.

Jasper was grilling them about annuities.

Bloom responded, "Jasper, my gigantic friend, you want to know how and when you can get at your money, is that correct? Generally speaking, you must wait till you're 59½ to start drawing your interest earnings out of an annuity. In this respect an annuity is similar to an IRA or other qualified retirement plan. In addition, any withdrawal is considered to be tax-deferred earnings until all earnings have been withdrawn."

"So I have to wait till I'm 59½?"

"Right. This is after all a retirement program. If you want to change it into a trading vehicle, then the IRS will slap a penalty on you. The pre-59½ tax penalty does not apply to payments made because of disability or death or if the contract is annuitized and a lifetime income option is selected."

"Lifetime income?"

"That's right. You have several options available on how you can annuitize the contract."

"Can I let money continue to grow tax-deferred?"

"In some cases, depending of course on the provisions of the particular contract, the insurance company will allow you to defer withdrawals till age 85. A nifty way to grow money tax-deferred."

"Sure beats the heck out of rolling over CDs."

"Yes, especially for people who do not foresee the need to spend the income of their CDs. A single-premium tax-deferred annuity is like a perpetual CD with no current tax worries."

"Sounds too good to be true."

"Only if you're paranoid."

"Are you suggesting that I'm ..."

"Jasper, please understand. We're just a pair of investment cops from Steinbeck country, trying to track a good idea for our present and future clients. And once in a while we try to track down a good new Chinese restaurant. But that's another story."

(Messrs. Piazza and Bloom, associate vice presidents at Dean Witter Reynolds Inc., can be contacted for additional information, at 373-1861 or P.O. Box 631, Monterey 93940.)

Supervisors support a dam, but add a cautionary note

Before the varying sides of the proposed resolution were presented, Bruce Buel, general manager of the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District, presented his case to the supervisors.

"We know that it will be a matter of time until our next drought," he said. "We hope we are not in one now."

Buel added that once the dam is on line, there would be enough water to last until the year 2020.

Thus far, the cities of Carmel, Sand City, Pacific Grove and Del Rey Oaks have adopted resolutions supporting the project, with Monterey and Seaside still outstanding.

•

MUCH OF the debate centering on the proposed dam involves the amount of growth forecast for the peninsula through the year 2020 — Tuesday's session proved to be no exception.

"Do we really want our Monterey Peninsula dominated even more than it is now by the hotel and convention industry?" asked Carmel resident Rod Holmgren. "Once the water is safely tucked away behind the dam, the hotel and convention people will say, 'We want more and we want it now.' "

Buel said that the water management district had hired a private consultant to analyze each city's general plan through the year 2020 to see how much growth could be tolerated.

No suprises would be sprung on an unsuspecting peninsula, he said.

Another argument was posed by Carmel resident Tom May, who worried that an accurate economic evaluation had not been conducted.

Because of higher water costs, local residents could face increased prices on store-bought goods that could find them paying between $110 and $175 extra a year beyond the costs of paying back the bond, he cautioned.

And while the supervisors agreed with many of the arguments presented by the audience, the issue before it centered on the resolution — not a debate.

"We are fortunate on the Monterey Peninsula because we do not have to import our water," said 5th District Supervisor Karin Strasser Kauffman. "But we have not been very good stewards of that service."

Strasser Kauffman referred to the overuse of water which has depleted the Carmel River, the diminished fish in the area and the vanishing vegetation surrounding the river in the Carmel Valley.

Ultimately the decision will be up to the people, she said.

"To dam or not to dam will be the decision of the voters," she said.

Meals on Wheels needs volunteers

DRIVERS AND other volunteers are needed to deliver 200 meals daily to shut-ins and the handicapped on the peninsula for Meals on Wheels.

According to Chuck Poland, a Carmel volunteer, 200 homes are served with three meals five days a week from Carmel Valley to Marina, but 22 volunteer drivers are needed daily to deliver those meals.

"We were seven drivers short the other day," said Poland, who has been pressed into service so often that he's driving almost daily now. "It means a lot to these people. You thank your lucky stars when you leave."

Poland said there are 22 routes, three of them in the Carmel area. One route usually takes from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. (including driving to and from the pick-up point in New Monterey).

Each shut-in is delivered a breakfast, one cold meal (usually sandwich, salad and juice), and one hot meal. He added that volunteers are also needed to make sandwiches and salads at the Meals On Wheels kitchen in New Monterey.

Amost all of the help is from volunteers, Poland said, so often the agency ends up shorthanded. If you would like to volunteer to help out contact Meals on Wheels at 375-4454.

Meals on Wheels is a non-profit organization now in its 15th year.

Dazzling phantasmagoria

PHANTASMAGORIA LIVED UP to its promise "to dazzle." Supporters of Monterey County AIDS Project (MCAP) were treated to a sophisticated multi-media extravaganza that held the attention through the eyes, ears, imagination and, no doubt, reached into pocketbooks.

During the social hour on the deck of the Monterey Plaza Hotel guests viewed a display of stunning photography (brought by Mrs. Pete Goode, who donated 10 percent of sales to MCAP) as they sipped spirits and nibbled on victuals from silver trays.

In the Grand Ballroom guests were seated in the style of a true international couture show; however, behind the dazzling fun was a serious subject matter. Rita Shugart, the force behind the fashion show, told more than 200 MCAP donors ($125 per), "The purpose is to conquer this horrible disease of AIDS, to educate people, to give care and companionship to those in the county who have this disease."

Doug Murphy, coordinator of AIDS Awareness Week in San Francisco, commended MCAP efforts here. Rev. Alan Syslo, chair of MCAP, spoke of his work and guests heard a brief but direct talk by Dr. Geraldine C. Taplin (infectious disease specialist) who said, "There are one to 3,000 cases in Monterey County now from the ages of 2½ years to 85. AIDS is no respecter of age, sex, race, or economic level." People were heard saying, "We should have more talks like this in the area."

Then it was "on with the show" and soon everyone was charged up by flashing lights rigged behind scrim-covered stage flats, the insistent music beat, the slithering skinny models in "one-of-a-kind" outfits, leather and suede, colorful print chameuse dresses, furs, and a finale of glimmering splashy nighttime wear.

This was not the usual run-of-the-mill fashion runway treading. Models were mostly from the north, but we had our own stand-outs — Rene Rolfs and the irrepressible Bud Allen.

Starting with a moody rain scene, dark lighting, and very convincing sounds with a couple under a protective umbrella, it was brightened up from there with numbers that included a real boa (not the feathered kind), two Dalmatian dogs leashed to a model in Dalmation print, stunning Ungaro and Luciano Soprani outfits, scrumptious buttery soft furs, gold lace, beads and a mirrored dress to reflect on.

Doing the necessary legwork to produce a successful event were Madeline R. Ross, Deborah Sponder and Rhonda Williams.

In the foyer as we left, ladies were drawn irresistably to the rack of furs from posh Beverly Hills and a mirror was quickly set up for their use. R. K. Shugart (of Carmel) and Sompers Furs (of Beverly Hills) generously gave 10 percent of sales revenue for the following two days to MCAP from a Designer Trunk Show.

A GREAT October event is the Santa Catalina Wine Tasting and Auction — their sixth. This past Saturday evening more than 400 friends of the school, parents, and past-parents were drawn to Saint Louis Bertrand Hall to sample 25 winery products and to dine on a lavish buffet donated by Mary Ann Dickie. Fall harvest decorations were apropos on the tables of food catered by Fifth Avenue Deli.

Between sips and bites the guests were bidding on silent auction items brought in by chairwoman Margartet Duflock. At seven o'clock sharp the silent bidding was closed and MC/Auctioneer David Armanasco started the live auction in Santa Domingo Hall.

David kept the bidding going at a lively pace with 103 enticing items being snapped up by bidders who know a good thing when it reaches the auction block. Wine auction chairpersons, Tony M. Salameh and Pierre Bain (both knowledgeable restaurant owners), along with Frederick L. Dame (brilliant wine authority serving as wine consultant), put together a great assortment of rare and unusual wines.

Here are some of the winners in the live auction. Top money ($2,700) came for Fred Dame's private tour through five Napa Valley wineries in Beringer's limo with dinner at the Rhine House for six. Going on that jaunt are Phyllis Harkless, Jackie Lynch, Dorothy Kirk, Mary Ann Dickie and Antony and Mary Anne Garcia.

Sitting just behind the Giants' dugout at the playoff on Sunday were four lucky ticket holders. These impossible-to-get treasures sold for $2,200 to John E. Bailey who took three employees. Dr. Ben Richards bought a freshwater pearl necklace (donated by Sheri Turrentine of LaPorte's) for a suprise anniversary gift for his wife.

Charles and Sandra Chrietzberg were top multi-bidders and won among many items the gold cross with Father Junipero Serra (Kocek Jeweler) and the two bottles of Chateau D'Yquem donated by Paul and Anne Anka. A stay in The Lodge at Pebble brought in $1,300 and Dennis and Karen LaVett picked up a case of magnums of Robert Pecota Cabernet Sauvignon 1984 ($450) donated by Alan and Rita Shugart, and 10 bottles of 1980 Cabernet Sauvignon given by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Barton (for $500). Mr. and Mrs. Hank Ketcham gave a case of 1974 Chateau Le Fournas Bernadott (autographed by Hank), that brought in $650.

Mr. and Mrs. David Pratt of Pebble will be staying in a suite at the Stanford Court Hotel. They also bought one of the beautiful floral centerpieces by Antony Garcia and Katie Ewen (decorations chairs) and donated it to the school chapel. Alicia Garcia held the winning ticket for the Jamaican holiday.

The handsome Louis XIII Cognac in gift box given by Mr. and Mrs. William Stahl was bought by Paul Carelli (an attorney from Las Vegas who flew in for the auction) for $500. The seven bottles of rare chardonnays given by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Butts were won by Mr. and Mrs. James Didion of Pebble and the "joke gift" given by Bud Allen gained 50 cents.

Kudos go to Mary Anne Garcia, general chairwoman, for a superlative job. Cindy Hinkle happily accepted those 401 reservations from the Phyllis Harkless mailing. Robin Aeschliman served as cashier and Sister Carlotta and Sister Claire as liaisons for the school. It was a hurculean team effort that proved to be extremely successful. Not only was everyone pleased to attend, but had a grand time.

•

ALLIANCE FRANCAISE members of the Monterey Peninsula chapter met in the Corral de Tierra home of Mrs. Mildred Ramos on Saturday afternoon. The high point was a talk "The Whole of Paris" presented by Madam Lucie Heymann, former president.

It was a verbal trip through early Paris and Paris as it is today, which included the literary, historical, architectural and artistic aspects of the various districts and quarters of the city and its environs. Each member received a cassette of the talk.

Madelaine cookies were served with tea; an interesting sidelight was a mini-history of the cookie and how to make it.

CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA GARDEN Club held its Annual Guest Meeting in the Church of The Wayfarer in Carmel. More than 75 members and guests were treated to a special program featuring two films: Garland of Generations and Roots of Life presented by Mrs. Robert B. Maebride of Woodside-Atherton Garden Club. One was narrated by Christopher ("Superman") Reeves.

CBTS Garden Club members served refreshments from tables with floral decorations. Event chair was Ruth Leach

VIETNAM VETERANS Affairs Committee plans a "Carmel Fall Arts Festival" Oct. 24 and 25th (9 a.m. to 5 p.m.) at Carmel High School. The purpose is to offer fine art to the public and with the monies gained to assist local veterans outreach programs and to help in the building of a Vietnam Vets Memorial in Sacramento.

There will be paintings, sculptures, photographs, woodwork, ceramics, jewelry and fine crafts. Local veteran artists will display their work along with fine art of all types from all over California and Arizona. Some professional artists to be represented are Stan Beckman, Zeny Cieslikowski, Rich Preston, Carl Wasner, Carolyn Baker, Donald Teague (internationally recognized Carmel artist), and Aleen Dizon.

Cieslikowski, who produced La Quinta Art Foundation for the past five years and will produce LQAF's Palm Springs exhibit this fall, is working with his brother Carl, who chairs MCVVAC.

Anyone interested in exhibiting should call 758-1081 as soon as possible as space is limited.

BGSU GISH FILM THEATER SALUTES ACTRESS JEAN ARTHUR WITH SERIES

A retrospective film salute to actress Jean Arthur of Carmel, started Sept. 18 at Bowling Green State University's Gish Film Theater.

The famed actress, who lives in Carmel, made her film debut in Cameo Kirby in 1923. She went on to appear in 72 feature-length films spanning the silent and sound eras as well as a number of one and two-reelers.

The Gish Film Theater, located in Hanna Hall, commemorates the achievements of Ohio natives Dorothy and Lillian Gish in the history of American film. Lillian Gish actually made her acting debut in the Wood County town of Risingsun, 20 miles from Bowling Green.

Jean Arthur's movie career parallels that of Dorothy and Lillian Gish in several ways and that's one reason the retrospective tribute to Arthur has been planned, according to Dr. Ralph H. Wolfe, curator of the Gish Film Theater.

"She's a significant film actress. She's one of the actresses who bridged the silent and sound eras, and she developoed a persona that was all her own," Wolfe points out, adding that Arthur is "generally considered one of the great comediennes, as Dorothy Gish was."

Arthur has worked with such prominent directors as John Ford, Frank Capra, Cecil B. DeMille and Billy Wilder. Among her co-stars have been Gary Cooper, James Stewart, Ray Milland, Cary Grant, William Holden, John Wayne and Alan Ladd.

George Stevens has described her as "one of the greatest comediennes the screen has ever seen." In his autobiography, Capra called her his "favorite actress...probably because she was unique...she of the husky voice that broke into a thousand tinkling bells."

The series began Sept. 18 with The Whole Town's Talking and Mr. Deeds Goes to Town (1936). The Plainsman (1936) and Easy Living (1937).

Other movies include History Is Made at Night (1937); You Can't Take It With You (1938); Only Angels Have Wings (1939); and Mr. Smith Goes to Washington (1939); Arizona, which also stars William Holden; The Devil and Miss Jones (1941); and The Talk of the Town (1942); The More the Merrier; A Lady Takes a Chance; A Foreign Affair (1948) and Shane (1953).

CARMEL STUDENT NATIONAL MERIT SCHOLARS

York School Headmaster Dr. Henry M. Littlefield announced today that 10 of the school's 34 seniors have been honored by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. The students scored in the top 5 percent of all California high school students who took the PSAT/NMSQT in 1986.

Included in the recognition were four students who are competing for college scholarships as semi-finalists. They rank in the top half of one percent of students tested. They are: Mitchell Dyck, Salinas; Joshua Ramey-Renk, Carmel; Juliette Tanner, Capitola; and David Yellin, Santa Cruz.

CHS STUDENT COMMENDED IN 1988 MERIT PROGRAM

Carmel High has been notified that Jeff Lewis has been designated a Commended Student in the 1988 National Merit Scholarship Program and will receive a Letter of Commendation in recognition of outstanding academic promise. Principal Marie Ishida announced that this senior placed in the top 50,000 of more than one million participants in the 33rd annual Merit Program.

High performance in this rigorous competition is indicative of exceptional scholastic ability, which schools play an important role in developing.

Participants entered the current Merit Program by taking the PSAT/NMSQT in October 1986, when most of them were juniors. Although their qualifying test scores are high, the 35,000 young people throughout the nation who are Commended Students scored slightly below the level required for Semifinalist standing in their respective states.

WATER BOARD CANDIDATE
November 3

The proposed dam fails on most counts for anyone who is up-to-date. Dam building is becoming a long, complex and wasteful nightmare. The dollar and environmental costs are excessive for what we need.

The proposed dam is a bad business deal. It would store 29,000 acre-feet, but only deliver 2,900 to residents and businesses. That is like buying a pricey shopping center with 90 percent of the floor space standing idle with a big mortgage no one can afford.

To move forward, I met with some responsible people who are experts on money and water. They indicate that the water costs would be much higher than we have been told. They caution me, any look at the financing and operations of the proposed dam in relation to the larger water system raises questions on going ahead with the project. They see existing water users being assessed for charges substantially beyond what has been quoted. They suggest that the total charges are very uncertain and may have a harmful effect on the economics of the Peninsula.

We have an easy alternative to the dam. Dredging silt from the old dams will add 2,000 acre-feet of storage for an immediate hedge against rationing. We can easily tie-in some small holding reservoirs for local storage and earthquake safety. The add-on is to move toward massive use of waste water. This water has unusually high quality that should not be lost to the ocean. As more and more potable water is released, we shut down the wells which overdraft the water table and cause environmental damage.

These practical projects will cost about one-fourth that of the dam. They are neutral on growth. Under this system, we can expand according to need. For a safe and reliable water supply, we can join the pay-as-you-grow movement.

Water is too important to be the whipping boy of politics. My job is to make sure we have a quality water system at a reasonable price and to take us out of the awkward mess at the Water Agency.

The Family Farm Project was the chosen commitment for the youth council for their 1987 endeavors.

Council member Robin Marzi said that the 15 member board unanimously voted for the project. "After George (Watters, co-founder of the project) got through talking to us all about this wonderful project, we were all in tears...it is such a quality of life effort for us."

Council members have already begun work with the Family Farm Project by committing working with their Bingmobiles at the Family Farm Project's upcoming sheepdog trials.

Council Member Matt Bays said: "it's one of the few ways we know to raise money because we work the AT&T at Pebble Beach." The Sheepdog trails are set for Oct. 16 & 17. "It really blows my mind when I watch those dogs at work," adds Bays, who has been a youth council member for more than a year.

For more information on the upcoming Trials contact George Watters at 625-1758 or 649-1007.

CARMEL HERITAGE ELECTS OFFICERS

Carmel Heritage, looking back on four years of steady growth from a founding nucleus of some 20 members to its present membership of more than 500, held its election of officers at the home of Virginia Stanton on Oct. 8.

Virginia Stanton, having served as president during the past four years, has been a driving force in shaping the programs and activities of the growing organization since it evolved from its former existence as "Carmel Tomorrow." She was honored by the new board of directors with the title of "President Emeritus" in recognition for her many contributions to the success of the new organization.

Carmel Heritage's newly elected officers and board members are: Roger Newell, president; George White, first vice president; Helen Wilson, second vice president; James Rotter, treasurer; Nancy Whitacre, corresponding secretary; Marjory Lloyd, recording secretary.

New board members are Lacy Faia, Ann Bordon, Anne Grant, Lise Work, Jean Rodriguez, Richard Tevis, B.H. Schulte and John Livingstone.

HADASSAH CRAFT BAZAAR SET FOR OCT. 22

Hadassah's 13th Annual Crafts Bazaar and deli-luncheon will take place Thursday, Oct. 22 at the Carmel Woman's Club, San Carlos and Ninth Avenue in Carmel. Open to the public, there will be a sale of handmade knits; homemade cakes, cookies, jams and jellies; plants; bric-a-brac and a table of special gift items.

The deli-luncheon will consist of a kosher-style pastrami sandwich on rye, homemade potato salad, relish, dessert and coffee for $5. Takeout orders will be available. The dining room will be set to serve luncheon guests from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Proceeds of this event help support the programs of healing, research and teaching at the Hadassah Hospitals in Israel, whose doors are open to all religions, races or creeds. Sale hours are from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

Eye care for the elderly

Do you know an older person who needs medical eye care, but cannot afford it?

Ask them to call 1-800-222-EYES, the toll-free Helpline operated by the National Eye Care Project. Eligible callers will receive a referral to a nearby eye physician and surgeon (ophthalmologist) who has volunteered to provide care.

Every patient will be given a comprehensive medical eye examination for eye diseases and any needed treatment to protect vision. Services of the volunteer ophthalmologist are provided at no out-of-pocket cost to the patient. For this project, volunteer ophthalmologists are accepting Medicare and/or other health insurance assignment as payment in full for their services. If the patient has no insurance coverage, medical eye care is provided without charge.

Although there is no financial qualification for the program, the emphasis of the project is to help those who may be without the means to pay — those who need the care the most.

• To be eligible, a person must be age 65 or older, a U.S. citizen, and no longer have access to an ophthalmologist he or she has seen in the past.

• This is not an eyeglasses program. The National Eye Care Project is designed to provide comprehensive medical eye examinations and treatment to prevent or control eye disease. Eyeglasses are not covered by the program.

• If hospitalization is needed, volunteer ophthalmologists may be able to work with the patient to obtain needed care. Hospital charges are not covered under this program or by the doctor.

• The National Eye Care Project is for needy older persons who do not have an ophthalmologist. It is not a second opinion program.

Older people suffer more than half of the blinding eye diseases in the U.S. — and about half of this blindness could be prevented.

The National Eye Project is sponsored by the state ophthalmology society and the Foundation of the American Academy of Ophthalmology.

Ophthalmologists are medical doctors. They are the only specialists qualified to provide total eye care: medical, surgical and optical.

Believe it or not you can drive one home today.

You've probably heard you have to wait weeks for a Mercedes-Benz. Fact is, you could probably drive one home tonight.

Your local authorized Mercedes-Benz dealer has a special service. And here's how it works: come in to the showroom and pick the car you want (we have a good selection available). The rest is up to us.

If you qualify, we will give you the most generous possible trade-in allowance for your present car. Then we'll arrange for your financing and take care of all the details. We'll call your insurance company and verify the necessary insurance binder. And finally, we'll put temporary plates on your new Mercedes-Benz. Then it's home you go.

This special service is just one more way your authorized Mercedes-Benz dealer extends the value of your car ownership far beyond the car itself. We're out to build a lasting relationship with every single one of our customers.

And if putting you in the Mercedes-Benz you want today will help us do that, you'd better believe we'll do it.

Like no other dealers in the world.

See your authorized Mercedes-Benz dealer.

ZOLLER AND McINTOSH NAMED TO GOLF BOARD

Following the annual August meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Golf Foundation, William F. Borland, chairman, announced the appointment of John Zoller and J.B. McIntosh to the board of directors.

Zoller, of Pebble Beach, is the chief executive officer of the Northern California Golf Association and McIntosh, of Hillsborough and Pebble Beach, is a real estate consultant and noted golfer.

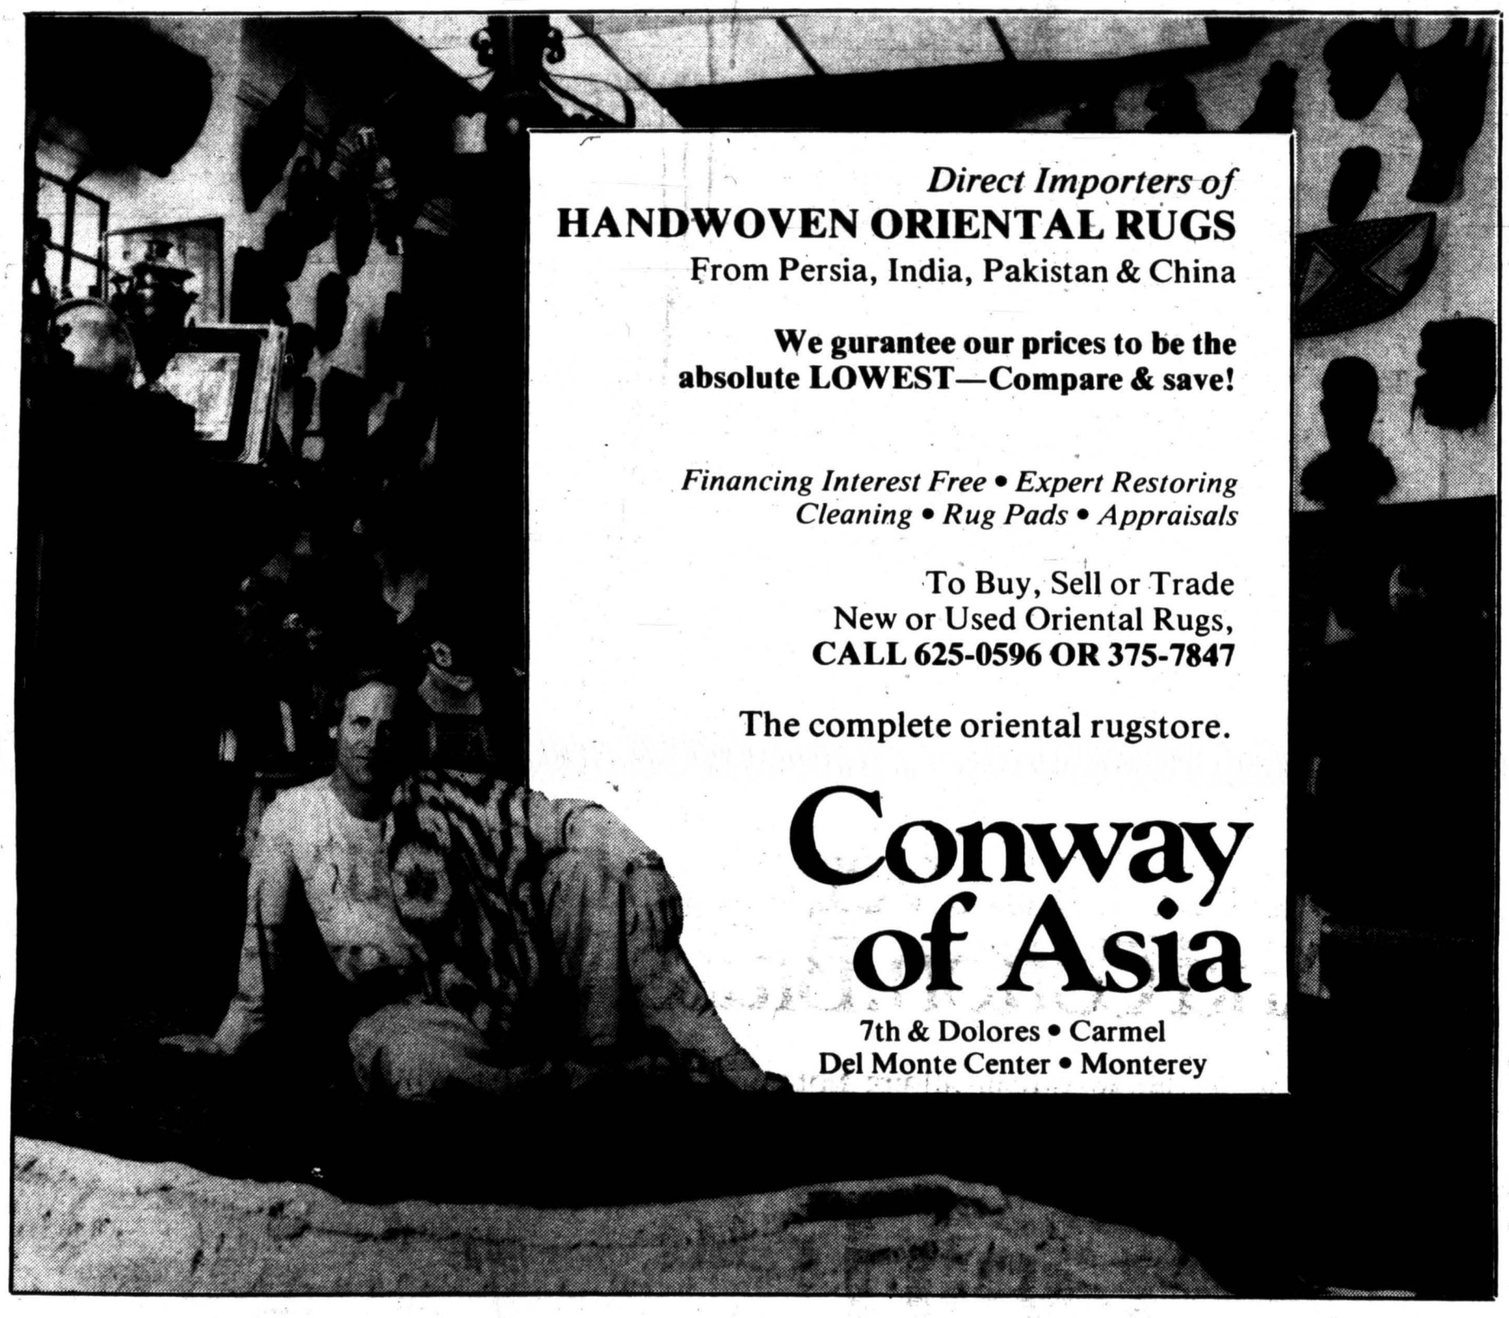

The foundation is the governing body of the annual AT&T Pebble Beach National Pro-Am Golf Championship, played over the Pebble Beach, Cypress Point and Spyglass Hill courses. The event benefits Monterey Peninsula charities and scholarship funds.

Zoller and McIntosh will join board members Lou Russo, John Smart, Tom Oliver, Clint Eastwood, Peter Coniglio, and Harry and Nathaniel Crosby.

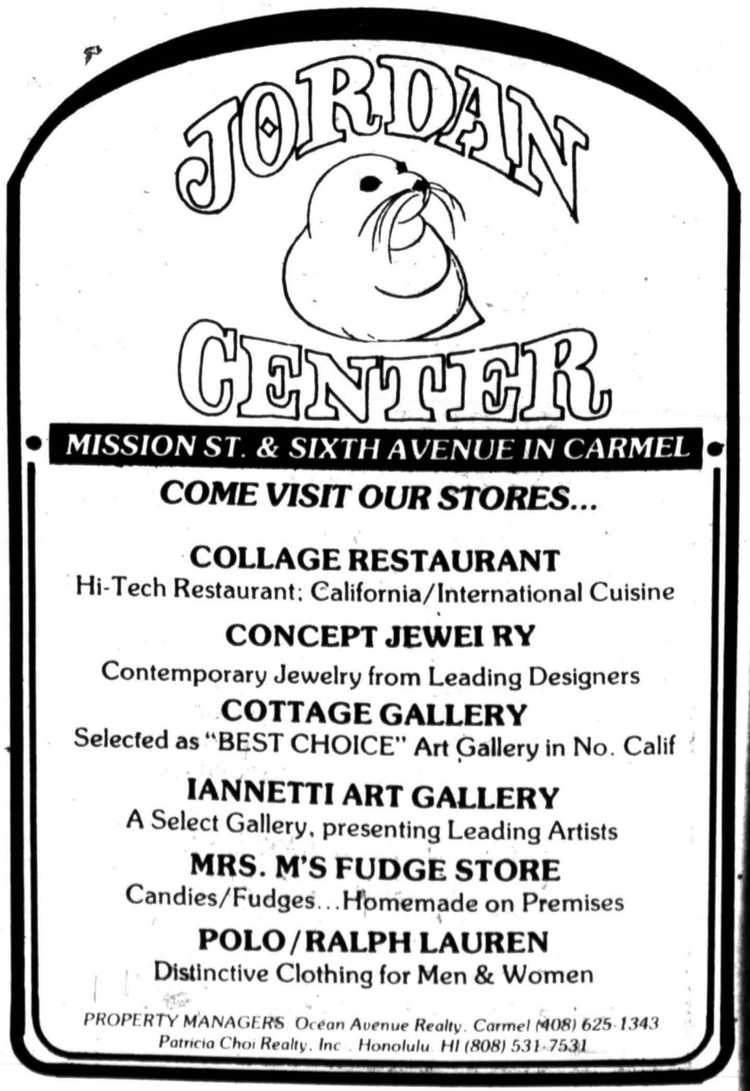

Student of the month

CARMEL HIGH School senior Fawn Bassett has been chosen by the foreign language department as the year's first Student of the Month. Bassett is studying French in the hopes of joining the Peace Corps after she graduates from college; she would like to serve in West Africa. She is interested in a career as a naturalist; she believes in conservation of the wilderness and the world's resources. Her choice of college is either UC Santa Cruz of UC Berkeley. For four years she has been a member of Carmel's championship girl's swim team (where she was named "Most Improved," both as JV and varsity), and she has also played team basketball. her hobbies include backpacking and playing the piano and flute. On weekends she works at a gas station. She has been a member of the California Scholarship Federation for two and a half years and has been invited to the Rotary's Top 100 dinner (honoring the top 25 students from each class) all four years.

SHAKE ROOFS need not burn or decay.

Fire officials are correct when they say wood shake or shingle roofs can be a fire hazard. It is proven that 80% of the natural oils in a shake or shingle roof leach out in five years. Shakes become like kindling wood, easily set afire as well as supporting fungus and insects. Add several years worth of leaf and pine needle accumulation and the roof is extremely susceptible to sparks from the chimney — the number one cause of roof fires. The roofs are then accidents waiting to happen as was seen with the Pebble Beach tragedy.

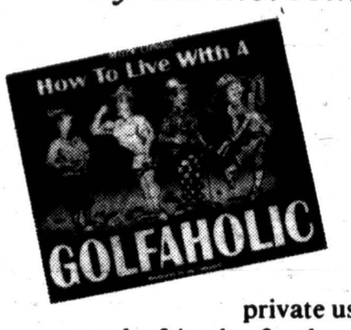

Much of the risk of roof fires can be minimized by preventative action. Wood roofs should be cleaned of leaves and pine needles on a regular basis. Fire retardents can be applied to existing wood roofs. One such fire retardant has been used successfully in California for over 40 years. Flame-X has been used on 35,000 homes, the equivalent of 70,000,000 square feet and has had no known roof fires. Flame-X has been extensively tested by licensed testing laboratories and has stood the test of time, both in exposure tests and actual hill brush fires. Shake Savers, Inc., headquartered in Cleveland, Ohio, has a complete dealer network in California to service the market. Shake Savers, Inc. offers a free roof analysis to any homeowner who would be interested. The Shake Savers dealers will supply product literature, test data as well as explain their coating procedures.

Shake and shingle roofs can be protected from fire, fungus and insects. If you would like additional information and the dealer nearest you, call the Shake Savers home office at 1-800-24SHAKE or write to:

HOW TO LIVE WITH A GOLFAHOLIC

By Carmel Author Mark Oman

WARNING!

The following excerpt from the new book HOW TO LIVE WITH A GOLFAHOLIC is intended solely for the private use of those who suspect they may be friends of, related to, or — heaven forbid — married to a golfaholic. In the weeks ahead you'll learn the whole sordid story; how to survive the "traps and hazards" of life with a golf lover.

Confessions of a Golf Junkie

YES, THIS writer is a golfaholic.

It began in earnest in 1957. I'd close the door to my room and watch All-Star Golf on the television while fondling and cleaning my first set of clubs. Of course I was still a virgin. Hadn't even abused my putter. What did I know? I was only 14.

I have to admit that a great deal of the intoxication of the game was that you could do it alone. It made me feel grown up. All I needed was Joe Kirkwood's 9-Hole Pitch 'n Putt Golf Course and Driving Range near my home in Studio City, Ca., to learn how to became an experienced swinger—a man!

The golf course and driving range were regularly patronized by an unusually high concentration of movie actors, producers and writers living in the area—a veritable den of depravity.

The small pro shop was always full of enticing new golf paraphernalia. I experimented with it all, ravenously.

It was all very seductive to an impressionable young man such as I.

Convincing my mother that golf was a gentleman's sport of fair play and rational behavior was easily accomplished since no one in my mother's family had ever played the game.

(Born and raised in Southern California, my parents were naturally divorced at an early age — theirs and mine — so my father was not a real factor in my golf attraction. Nor were my stepfathers. In truth, my mother was married so many times that on Father's Day I had to leave town! But that's another book.)

So, unaware of the hazards lurking just ahead, mother encouraged my interest and I began lessons!

Whether the pro at the driving range had a keen eye for raw talent or just a keen eye for my mother watching my lessons, I wasn't sure at the time. Looking back, it must have been mom. It certainly wasn't my golfing talent. Nevertheless, that pro did give me my first pair of real, all leather professional golf shoes.

That was nearly 30 years ago. And while I no longer wear them, I often pull them out and harken back to old times. In fact, just having them around gives me a sense of inner peace.

•

ANYWAY, IT wasn't long after those first lessons and hanging around the driving range that my interest turned into an anxiousness about the game and eventually into deep dependency.

The moment I had my driver's license I'd sneak out at night and find out-of-the-way driving ranges where I'd "shoot up" with two or three or often four buckets of balls!

Of course from there I couldn't help going "all the way" spending every penny I could scrounge to experience the thrills of the "hard stuff" like Torrey Pines South Course. From the blue tees. Thirty-six holes!

I began socializing with other addicts and together we'd "trip-out" to Monterey and let it all hang out at Spyglass Hill and Pebble Beach. I'm talking hard-core ball-beating. Equipment abuse! The whole nine yards!

Where did all this get me?

Eventually to the understanding that my life and golf were inextricably bound together. This self realization didn't really take hold until about 10 years ago when I found that my marriage was in trouble because of my shameless golfaholic appetites. I came to realize that there was a real correlation between my handicap on the course during the day and my handicap under the covers later that night with my wife.

It took a real coming to grips with my golfaholic compulsion, facing the unplayable lies I had gotten myself into, to make me see clearly what I had to do. My search began.

From the Halls of St. Andrews to the Shores of Pebble Beach, I journeyed to find the answers to what turns normal folks, good people, into raving, wild-eyed, foaming at the ball-washer golf animals.

Above all I found out that not talking about it, not owning up to our insatiable lust for the game, keeping it bottled up inside (save for the 19th hole), is not the answer!

"What is?" you ask.

Not so fast. You're not quite ready. First you have to understand how golfaholics got that way.

To find out, do not miss next week's issue!

'Christmas Carol' auditions announced

Open auditions for the GroveMont Theater/Poetic Drama Institute production of Charles Dickens' yuletide classic, A Christmas Carol, are scheduled Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 19-20.

Artist-in-residence John Rousseau will direct the adaptation which will feature four men, three women and a boy. They will take on multiple roles and weave their various characters into the fabric of the play.

Auditions will take place 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the GroveMont Theater Arts Center, 320 Hoffman (between Lighthouse and Hawthorne) in New Monterey.

No prepared material is required, however those auditioners who wish to arrive early and familiarize themselves with the audition script are encouraged to do so. The production will rehearse the month of November with performances weekends in December. For further information, call 649-6852.

The Golden Years

By Myles Williams

A new study by Charles Longino of the University of Michigan's Center for Social Research in Aging found that there were 2,240,067 Americans aged 85 and over counted in the last census. The overwhelming majority of them, more than 69 percent, are women and Social Security is their primary source of income.

FATHER FARRELL'S WISDOM

Reach out to grab

CARMEL ROTARY CLUB, LA PLAYA HOTEL

Oh Almighty and Eternal God, as we ask Thy blessing on this food, we call the words from Thy scripture: "I stand at the door and knock. If anyone hears my voice I will come in and sit down to eat with him and with Me."

And again: "Shepherd your people with your staff, the flock of your inheritance that dwells apart in a woodland in the midst of Carmel. Let them feed in Bashan and Gilead as in the days of old."

We have eaten in Carmel. Do any of you remember what we ate at Bashan and Gilead?

Oh Lord, you created us in love and you have given us a family to be loved by and to whom we give our love.

In the summer we often waste time in frivolous actions, neglecting the important ones — caring and sharing, forgiving and helping, acting with kindness and giving service above self. Thou hast said, O Lord, that whenever we gather in Thy name that Thou art in the midst of us.

As Rotarians we gather as a family and under Thy banner of service. Remain with us this day and throughout the week and we shall never be alone. The man who says that he does not need Thee nor his neighbor, that he is his own boss and his own master, is forlorn and forsaken. This is the poor slob, the sad sack we should reach out to grab before he sinks for the third time. Amen.

French films shown in Monterey

Police and The Tall Blond Man with One Black Shoe are the upcoming features to be shown by the Monterey Institute International Film Series.

Maurice Pialat directed the 1985 release, Police. It offers a rough, uncompromising and fascinating portrayal of the day-to-day dealings of Parisian cops. Sophie Marceau and Sandrine Bonnaire co-star. The film will be shown in French with subtitles, Friday through Sunday, Oct. 16-18.

The Tall Blond Man with One Black Shoe is the Wednesday, Oct. 21 offering. The comedy focuses on an innocent violinist who is mistaken for a spy. It will also be shown in French with subtitles.

Both films begin at 8:15 p.m. at Morse Auditorium, 440 Van Buren, Monterey. Admission is $3.50 general, $3 students, $2.75 senior citizens. For additional information, call 624-5216.

Simchat Torah set for Oct. 15

Simchat Torah celebration will take place 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 15 at Congregation Beth Israel, First and Park, Monterey.

Simchat Torah, one of the most joyous holidays in the Jewish calendar year, is celebrated with the reading of the completion of Deuteronomy and the beginning of Genesis amid processions and banners.

Shmini Atzaret and Yizkor memorial services will take place the same day at 10:30 a.m. at the Monterey location. For further information call the temple office at 375-2759.

OBITUARIES

Charles R. Lister

The rosary was recited Sept. 20 in El Estero Chapel at Mission Mortuary, and a Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated Sept. 21 at Carmel Mission Basilica, for Charles R. Lister of Carmel, who died Sept. 17 at Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula. He was 62.

Born, Sept. 12, 1925 in New York City, he founded Charles R. Lister International Inc., a management consultant firm serving the oil and gas industry with offices in Carmel, New York City, Houston, London and Bahrain. A 10-year resident of Carmel, he opened the Carmel branch in 1977.

During World War II, he served in the Navy, achieving the rank of chief petty officer.

Survivors include his wife, Anita; a brother, John Lister of Burke, Va.; and 10 nieces and nephews.

Burial took place at San Carlos Cemetry.

Herbert Brownell

Private family services took place in Yreka, for Herbert Brownell, a longtime Carmel Valley realtor, who died Sept. 30 in Yreka. He was 89.

Mr. Brownell had moved from the Monterey Peninsula about 15 years ago, after he retired from a 50-year career in real estate. He was president of Carmel Valley Realty Co. and at one time was deputy tax assessor for Monterey County and a state inheritance tax appraiser.

Born Jan. 15, 1898 in Mountain View, he moved to the peninsula in the 1920s. He arrived with two brothers, Raymond and Harry who both became prominent dentists on the peninsula before they died.

He attended the University of Southern California before joining the Army in World War I.

He was a member of the Gilroy Gun Club, the American Society of Appraisers, the Carmel Valley Los Pobres Club and the Kiwanis Club.

Survivors include two daughters, Ruth Peace of Carmel Valley and Sally Reynolds of Mount Hebron; six grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren.

The family suggests memorial contributions to service clubs of the donor's choice.

Hazel R. Pohlman

Services took place Oct. 3 at El Estero Chapel of Mission Mortuary, for Hazel R. Pohlman, a longtime Pebble Beach homemaker, who died Sept. 29 at Driftwood Convalescent Hospital. She was 77.

Born July 5, 1910 in Cleveland, she was an active member of the Photo Workshop of the Carmel Foundation.

Survivors include her husband, William; a son, William C. of Rolling Hills Estates; a daughter, Priscilla Marvin of Scotia, N.Y.; and four grandchildren.

Burial took place at the Monterey City Cemetery, following services.

The family suggests memorial contributions to the Monterey County SPCA, P.O. Box 3058, Monterey 93942.

Gary Robert Jones

Rosary and a Memorial Mass was celebrated Oct. 5 at St. Angela's Church in Pacific Grove, for Gary Robert Jones of Carmel Valley, who died Oct. 2 at the Hospice of the Monterey Peninsula. He was 44.

Born Feb. 1, 1943 in Petaluma, he was a graduate of Monterey High School and served in the U.S. Navy. A resident of the Monterey Peninsula for the past 40 years, he worked for Albertson's Markets for 20 years, retiring in 1984.

Survivors include his wife, Tawni of Carmel Valley; a son, Gary Jr. of Carmel Valley; three daughters, Anne Marie and Laura, both of Monterey, and Kelly of Tiburon; a brother, Donald of Carmel; and his father, Robert of Old Station.

Cremation took place at the Little Chapel by-the-Sea, under the direction of the Paul Mortuary.

The family suggests memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society, P.O. Box 1028, Monterey 93942.

Bede Janvrin

The Rev. Bede Janvrin, Cam. OSB, a former British Army officer who became a Roman Catholic priest, died Sept. 25 at the Immaculate Heart Hermitage in Big Sur. He was 85.

Born Cedric Rudolph Janvrin Dec. 6, 1901 in London, he was educated at Ratcliffe College, Leicestershire.

Upon finishing school, he joined a British artillery company and later was commissioned into the Royal Berkshire Regiment. He eventually was transferred to the Royal Engineers and served all over the world as a regimental and staff officer. He also became a parachutist and served for a period during World War II as a secret agent behind enemy lines.

As a lieutenant colonel, he held a military-diplomatic post in Washington for three years, at the end of which he was accepted as a candidate for the priesthood in the Diocese of Victoria, British Columbia.

He retired from the army and began his theological studies at Beda College in Rome. Four years later, in 1959, he was ordained a priest at St. John Lateran in Rome.

Upon ordination, he took the name of Bede as a member of the Camaldolese Hermits of America, Order of St. Benedict.

Rev. Janvrin was a fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, the Royal Central Asian Society and the Royal Society of Literature.

He is survived by a twin sister, Olga Freda Scripture, and a younger brother, both of London.

Funeral services and burial have taken place at the Hermitage. The Mission Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Arthur W. Bowman

Memorial services took place Sept. 28 at the Carmel Presbyterian Church, for Arthur W. Bowman of Carmel, who died Sept. 23 in Monterey Convalescent Hospital. He was 82.

Born March 22, 1905 in Oakland, he graduated from Stanford University, and became an executive with Atkins Kroll & Co. in San Francisco and spent the last 10 years of his career in the Orient. He lived in Carmel for the past 13 years.

He was a member of the Carmel Presbyterian Church.

Survivors include his wife, Dorothy of Carmel; two daughters, Mary Loar of Berkeley and Barbara Junta of San Jose; six granddaughters; and a greatgrandson.

The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Albert Krotozyner

Cremation took place at the Little Chapel by-the-Sea, for Albert Krotozyner of Carmel, who died Sept. 21 at his home. He was 90.

Born April 5, 1897 in San Francisco, he had been a Carmel resident for the past 40 years, and was a retired real estate executive.

He was a U.S. Army veteran of World War I.

Survivors include two sisters, Alice Ratner of San Francisco and Elsa Abas of Los Angeles; a brother, James of San Francisco; and two nephews.

The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

The Golden Years

By Myles Williams

A new study by Charles Longino of the University of Michigan's Center for Social Research in Aging found that there were 2,240,067 Americans aged 85 and over counted in the last census. The overwhelming majority of them, more than 69 percent, are women and Social Security is their primary source of income.

FATHER FARRELL'S WISDOM

Reach out to grab

CARMEL ROTARY CLUB, LA PLAYA HOTEL

Oh Almighty and Eternal God, as we ask Thy blessing on this food, we call the words from Thy scripture: "I stand at the door and knock. If anyone hears my voice I will come in and sit down to eat with him and with Me."

And again: "Shepherd your people with your staff, the flock of your inheritance that dwells apart in a woodland in the midst of Carmel. Let them feed in Bashan and Gilead as in the days of old."

We have eaten in Carmel. Do any of you remember what we ate at Bashan and Gilead?

Oh Lord, you created us in love and you have given us a family to be loved by and to whom we give our love.

In the summer we often waste time in frivolous actions, neglecting the important ones — caring and sharing, forgiving and helping, acting with kindness and giving service above self. Thou hast said, O Lord, that whenever we gather in Thy name that Thou art in the midst of us.

As Rotarians we gather as a family and under Thy banner of service. Remain with us this day and throughout the week and we shall never be alone. The man who says that he does not need Thee nor his neighbor, that he is his own boss and his own master, is forlorn and forsaken. This is the poor slob, the sad sack we should reach out to grab before he sinks for the third time. Amen.

Montreux will perform at KAZU benefit

THE WINDHAM Hill group Montreux will appear in concert Saturday, Oct. 17 to cap a week-long celebration of 10 years on the air by KAZU, the listener-supported radio station based in Pacific Grove.

The concert will begin at 8 p.m. in Sunset Theater, San Carlos Street at Ninth Avenue, Carmel.

Perhaps the group's best-known performer is Darol Anger, who has consistently ranked as one of the top jazz violinists in recent years. Before he helped form Montreux, Anger worked with the David Grisman

THE MONTREUX Band performs in Carmel Saturday, Oct. 17 as a benefit for radio station KAZU. These Windham Hill recording artists include, from left, Darol Anger, Michael Manring, Barbara Higbie and Mike Marshall. The concert will begin at 8 p.m. in Sunset Theater, San Carlos at Ninth.

ARTS & LEISURE

Generally known as a pianist, Barbara Higbie is a multi-instrumentalist and vocalist. She and Anger have performed twice before in the Monterey and Santa Cruz area to sold-out houses.

Mike Marshall, a guitarist and mandolin player, teamed with Anger on a successful Windham Hill album, "Chiaroscuro." The bassist, Michael Manring, has also appeared on a number of Windham Hill releases and debuted on his own last year with "Unusual Weather."

Advanced tickets for the concert are on sale for $12 each at Do Re Mi Music in the Barnyard, Carmel; The Bookworks in Pacific Grove; Recycled Records and Center Stage Ticketing in Monterey; Gadsby's in Salinas, and Cymbaline Records in Santa Cruz.

Tickets can also be reserved by calling KAZU at 375-7275. The pre-concert reception is free and open to the public.

Saturday's concert will be preceded by a champagne reception at 7 p.m. at Sunset Center, Carmel, officially marking KAZU's 10th birthday. The music begins at 8 p.m. at the center.

Bay Symphony opens third season

THE THIRD season of concerts presented by the Monterey Bay Symphony will highlight music from opera. The season will begin Saturday, Oct. 17 in Salinas and continues Sunday, Oct. 18 at Sunset Theater in Carmel.

Sal Ferrantelli will conduct the opening series, which will include arias, overtures and vocal ensembles from 13 operas. The vocalists are Carole Powell, soprano; Linda Purdy, mezzo-soprano; John David De Haan, tenor; Peter Tuff and Alan Gilbert, baritones.

Both concerts will begin at 8 p.m. Operatic selections are drawn from Don Giovanni, Romeo et Juliette, Cavalleria Rusticana, La Traviata, Faust, La Boheme, Le Nozze di Figaro, Adriana Lecouvreur, Il Trovatore, Le Roi d'Ys, L'Italiana in Algeri, Cosi Fan Tutte and Carmen.

Season tickets are $50 and single tickets will be available for $15 each at the door. The Salinas concert is presented at the Hartnell College Main Stage, 156 Homestead Ave. The Carmel concert will be presented in Sunset Theater, San Carlos at Ninth, Carmel.

The third season of the Monterey Bay Symphony will continue with a program entitled "Baroque Before Christmas," led by Michael Nowak, music director of the San Luis Obispo County Symphony. This program will feature Maestro Nowak and Jill Cohen as the viola duet in Bach's Brandenburg Concerto No. 6 and Leah Bayes as the violin soloist in two of Vivaldi's Four Seasons, in addition to other pieces. These concerts will be presented Nov. 21 in Salinas and Nov. 22 in Carmel.

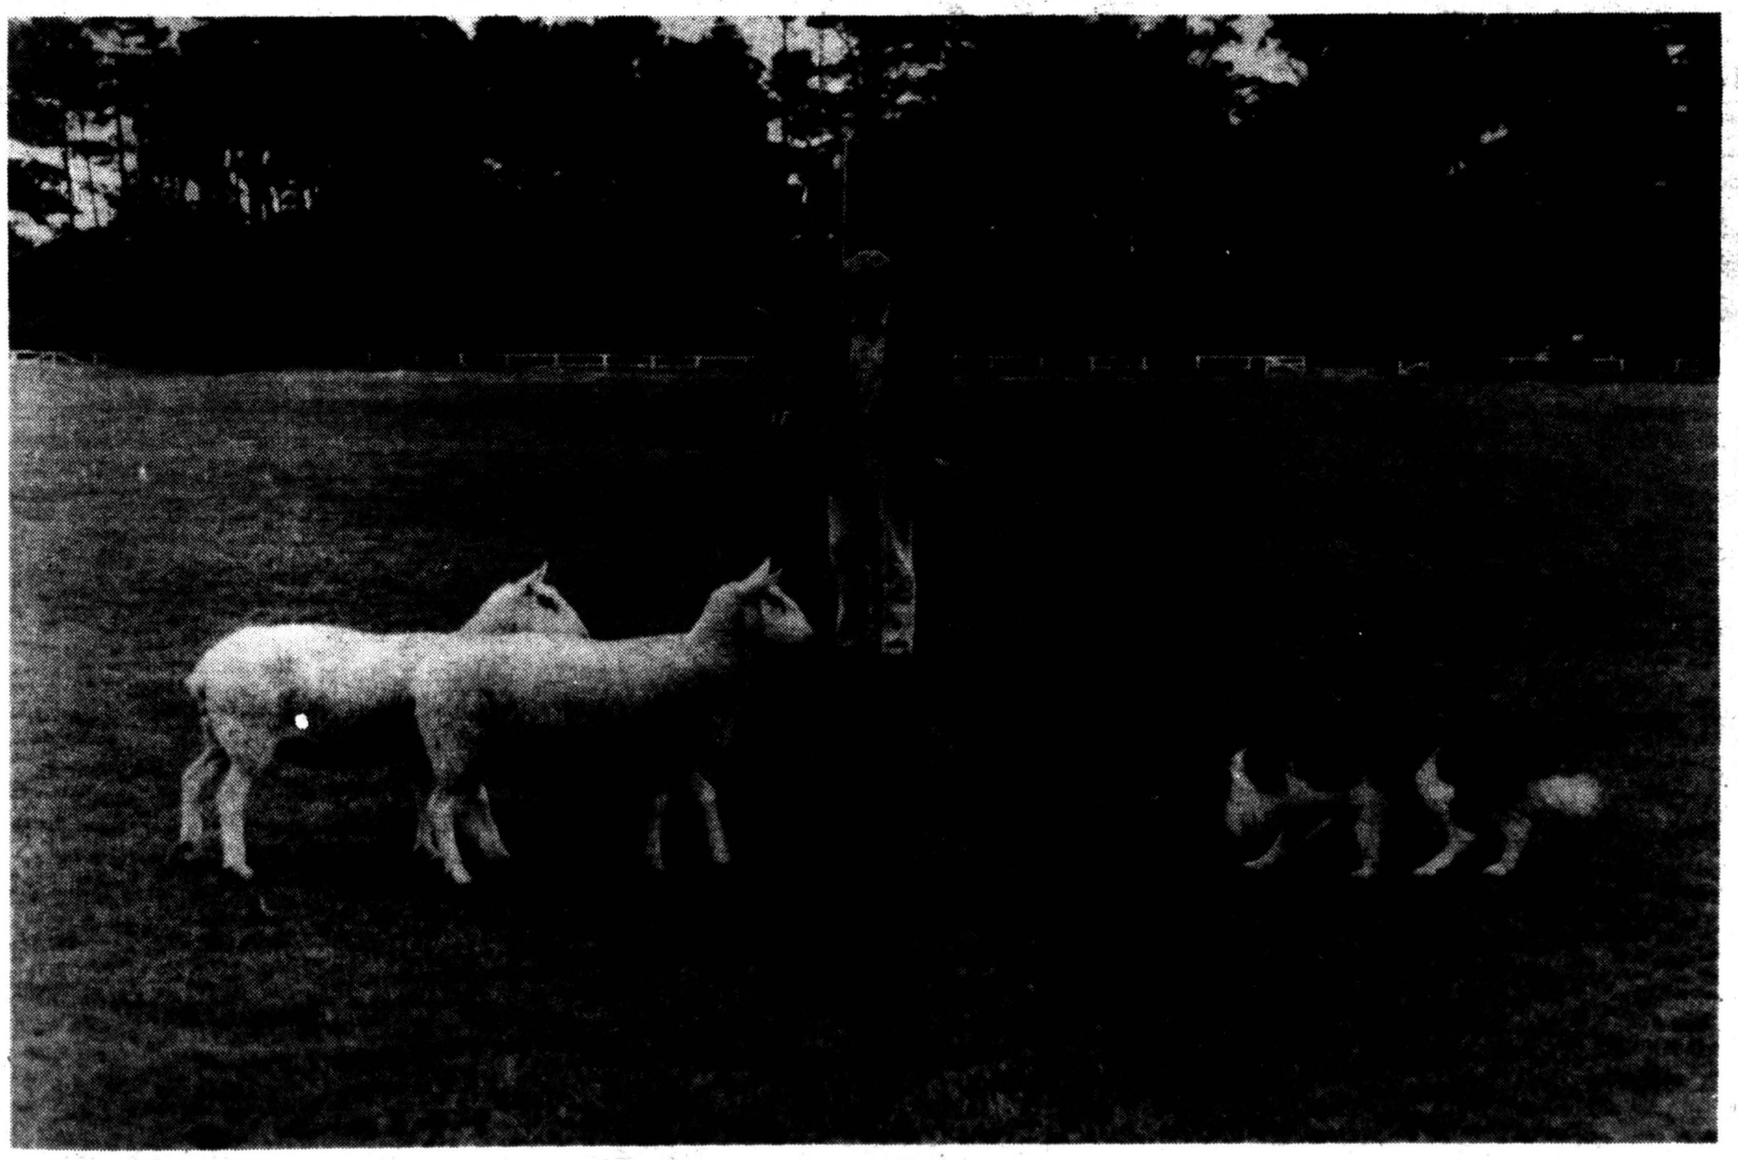

The third concert, performed Jan. 30 in Salinas and Jan. 31 in Carmel, will be devoted to music from film. Led by Joyce Johnson-Hamilton, music director of the Napa Valley Symphony, the orchestra will present film scores by such composers as Sergei Prokofiev and Aaron Copland.

One of the films will be The Red Pony, which the Dream Theater will screen on the Sunday afternoon between the two performances as a preview to the 1988 Monterey Film Festival.

On March 5 in Salinas and March 6 in Carmel, the third concert will feature Tchaikovsky's Swan Lake in a program of ballet music led by Kathleen Ash Barraclough, music director of the South Valley Symphony.

To conclude the season, I Cantori di Carmel will join the Monterey Bay Symphony in a presentation of Verdi's Requiem. This concert, led by Maestro Ferrantelli, will take place on April 23 in Salinas and on both April 24 and 25 in Carmel.

To purchase season tickets or to obtain further information, call Center Stage Ticketing at 649-5561.

JOHN TEMPLETON of Scotland will judge the second annual Pebble Beach International Sheepdog Trial, arriving Sunday, Oct. 18 at Collins Field in Pebble Beach. General admission is $5, and the usual Pebble Beach gate fee will be waived to those who purchase tickets. Children under 12 will be admitted free. VIP tickets, priced at $15, include sandwiches and beverages. The competition will take place 9:45 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.. The Wallace Guards Scottish Pipe Band is also scheduled to perform. For details, call 625-1758.

Border collies compete at Pebble Beach

THE SECOND Annual Pebble International Sheepdog Trials pulls into Collins Polo Field at Pebble Beach on Sunday, Oct. 18, beginning at 9:45 a.m. The event is organized by the Family Farm Project.

The trial, the second event of its kind at Pebble Beach, is a traditional British sport which demonstrates the herding skills of working border collies. Judging will be done by John Bathgate, sheepdog trialsman from Scotland.

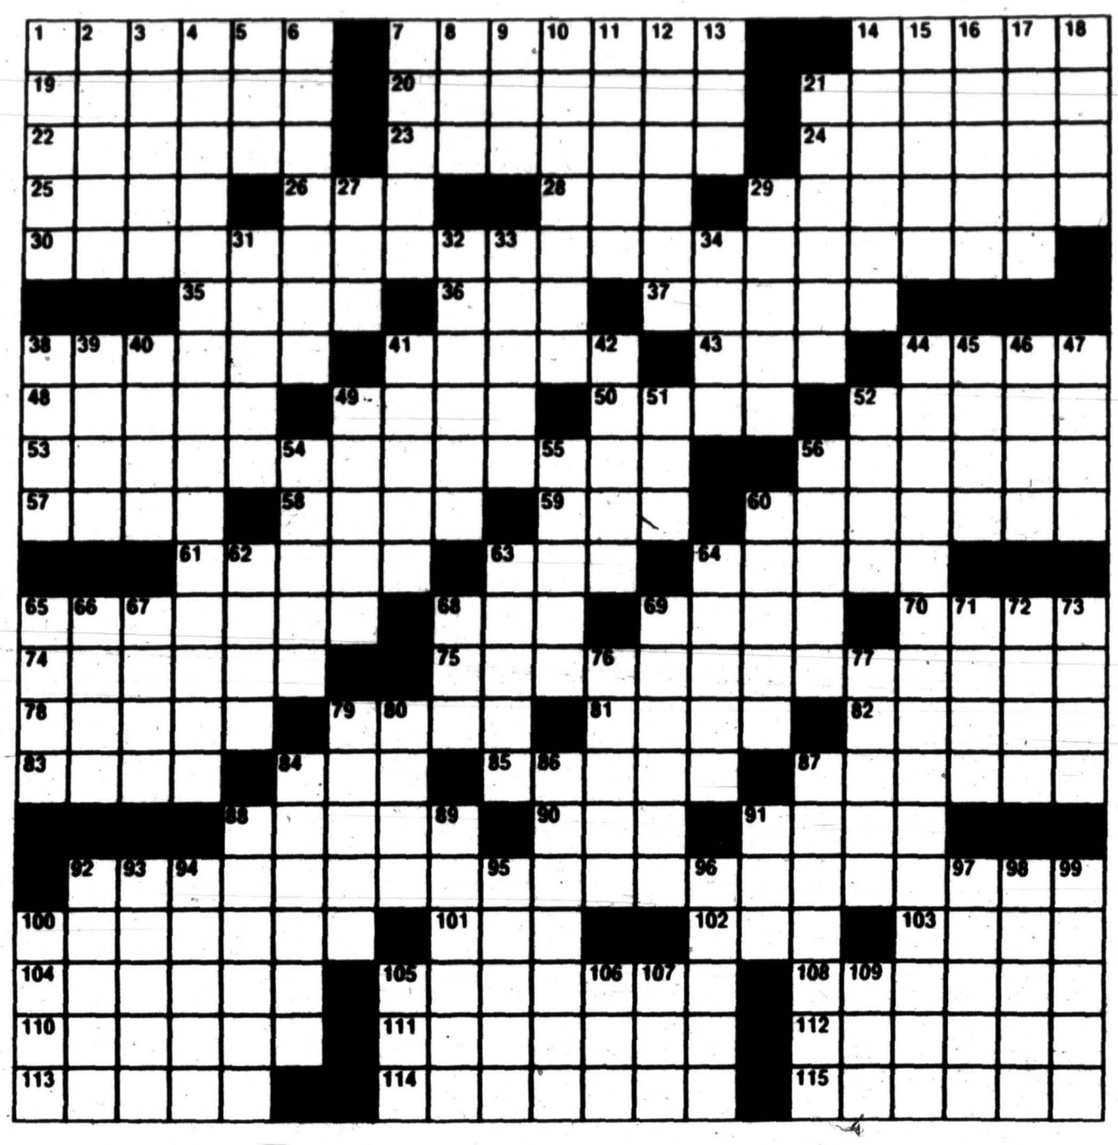

Proceeds from the trial will be for the benefit of the Family Farm Project, a non-profit organization created to establish an educational facility in Monterey County dealing with agricultural and environmental topics, and for the Pebble Beach Foundation.

General admission tickets will be available at the gate. VIP tickets are available by calling 625-1758. For further information call 625-1758.

Boston Chamber Music Society performs in Carmel

THE CHAMBER Music Society of the Monterey Peninsula opens its 20th season on Friday, Oct. 16 with an 8 p.m. concert by the Boston Chamber Music Society. The concert will be presented in Sunset Theater, San Carlos at Ninth, Carmel.

Six members of the society, Lynn Chang, violin; Stephanie Chase, violin; Marcus Thompson, viola; Bruce Coppock, cello; Ronald Thomas, cello, and Mihae Lee, piano, will play Haydn's String Trio in G Major, Op. 53; Brahms' Piano Trio in C minor, Op. 101, and Schubert's String Quintet in C Major, Op. Post. 163, Deutsche No. 956.

The Boston Chamber Music Society, originally named the Boston Conservatory Chamber Players, began with three public concerts in 1981. The society has 12 member artists who now present a season with seven concerts in Boston.

The ensemble has toured in Europe and was invited to tour the Far East. It is the ensemble-in-residence at the Boston Conservatory where most of its artist-members are on the faculty, as well as at the Great Woods Educational Forum in Mansfield, MA. The society has presented the weekly program, Chamberworks, during 1985-86 on WGBH-FM, performed in joint concert with the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center and is the recipient of a National Endowment for the Arts grant.

Lynn Chang, violin, was first prize winner in the International Paganini Competition and a winner in the Young Concert Artists International Auditions. He began his studies with Alfred Krips and continued with Ivan Galamian at the Juilliard School while a student at Harvard. Chang has played with the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center and performed as soloist with many orchestras in the United States and the Far East. He is a member of the violin faculty of the Boston Conservatory.

Stephanie Chase, violin, a bronze medal winner at the 1982 Tchaikowsky Competition, studied with Fannie Chase, Sally Thomas and Arthur Grumiaux. She made her Carnegie Hall debut in 1976 and her recital debut at Alice Tully Hall in 1978. Chase has performed at the 92nd Street Y and the Kennedy Center, amongst others and made her first recording with the London Philharmonic. She teaches violin at MIT and the Boston Conservatory.

Marcus Thompson, viola, has master and doctorate degrees from Juilliard School where he studied with Walter Trampler. He has toured extensively in Europe, and South, Central and North America, appearing as soloist with numerous orchestras. Thompson was featured on a national telecast, "Live from Lincoln Center," and performed at many music festivals. He is on the viola faculty of the New England Conservatory, professor at MIT, and has recorded for Vox and CRI.

Bruce Coppock, cello,is co-founder and executive director of the Boston Chamber Music Society. He studied at the New England Conservatory of Music with David Soyer and Laurence Lesser, and appeared in solo and chamber music concerts in the United States and Europe. Coppock has recorded for Angel, Delos, Nonesuch and CRI, is coordinator of chamber music at the New England Conservatory of Music, and a member of the Boston Conservatory faculty.

Ronald Thomas, cello, is co-founder and artistic director of the Boston Chamber Music Society. He attended the New England Conservatory of Music and the Curtis Institute where he studied with Lorne Munroe, Leslie Parnas, Zara Nelsova and David Soyer. Thomas was a Young Concert Artist Competition winner, has been soloist with the Philadelphia and other orchestras and has performed as chamber musician and soloist throughout the United States and Europe. He is a member of the cello faculty of the Boston Conservatory.

Mihae Lee, piano, began her piano studies at the age of four. After winning many prizes in Korea, she came to the United States in 1972 as a scholarship student of Richard Fabre in the Juilliard pre-college division, and continued as scholarship student of Martin Chanin to receive her bachelors and masters degrees at the Juilliard School as well as an Artist Diploma from the New England Conservatory. Lee has been winner of a series of prestigious competitions and frequently performs solo recitals and chamber music concerts in New York, Boston and throughout the United States. She recently returned from performances at the Dubrovnik Festival in Yugoslavia.

Following the Boston Chamber Music Society's concert, the 1978/88 season will continue with Sonus Lyricus, the Juilliard String Quartet, the Vienna Chamber Trio, the Stanford String Quartet, the Muir String Quartet with Jean-Philippe Collard, and concludes with the winners of the Carmel Chamber Music National Competition.

Memberships in the Chamber Music Society with admission to all concerts are $30. Single tickets are $10 ($5 for students under 21) at the door before each concert. For information call 625-2212.

A CONCERT BY THE Boston Chamber Music Society opens the 20th season of performances presented by the Chamber Music Society of the Monterey Peninsula. The concert will begin at 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 16 at Sunset Theater in Carmel. For ticket information, call 625-2212.

Emergency operator training offered at MPC

On Oct. 19 at Monterey Peninsula College, a new course will begin that is designed to teach students how to be a Public Safety Dispatcher.

The 80-hour course is worth four college credits and possible career opportunities.

When people dial 911, the emergency fire, police, and medical number, it takes a trained specialist to handle the response. This course is presented by experienced instructors in the field of public safety and communications and will address legal aspects, telephone procedures, stress management, radio operations, public safety codes, domestic violence, hostage negotiations, fire services, and more.

Students will be registered on a first come, first served basis at MPC under the title Administration of Justice 00600-50.

Call coordinator Bertha Simpson for more information at 424-8611, ex. 243, or Elizabeth Liskey at 424-7329 between 4 p.m. and midnight.

Methods of divining fate explored during book study

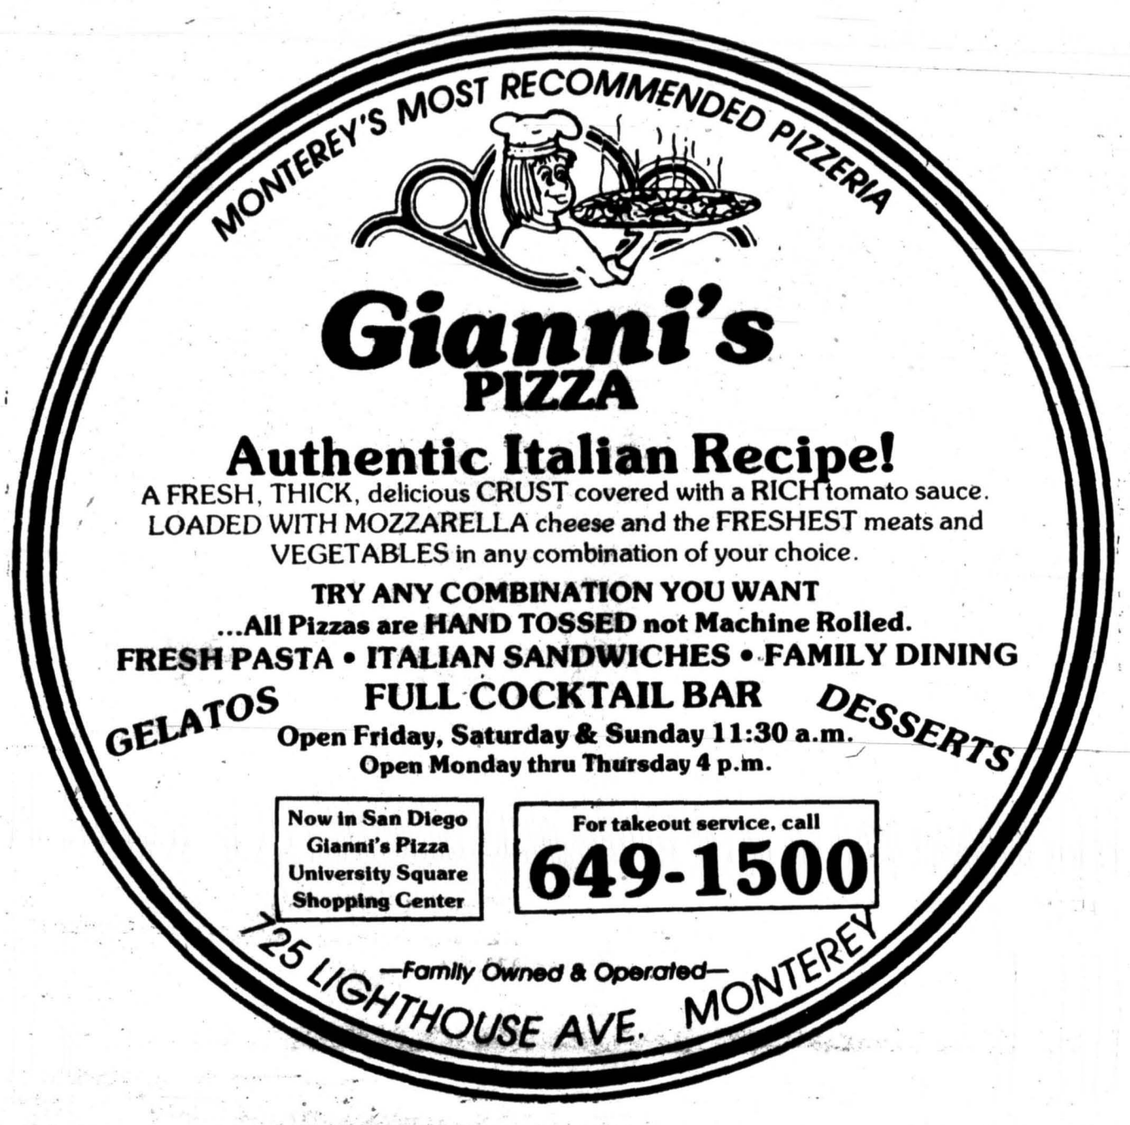

'A PENETRATING study of the meaning of the irrational." That sentence begins the announcement of a "Bringing Books to Life" series of workshops sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Friends of C.G. Jung.

The book to be reviewed and discussed at 7 p.m. Friday, Oct 16, at All Saints' Church, Ninth and Dolores, Carmel is On Divination and Synchronicity: The Psychology of Meaningful Chance by Marie-Louise von Franz. The author examines time, number and methods of divining fate such as the I Ching, astrology, Tarot, palmistry, random patterns and more.

She also explains and illustrates Jung's ideas on archetypes, projection, psychic energy and synchronocity. Western scientific attitudes are also compared with those of Chinese and so-cailed primitives. An early review of the book states that "Dr. von Franz ...has the rare ability to ground her psychological theories and insights in practical examples from everyday life. This makes her work equally accessible to both the layman and the professional therapist."

Leading the discussion of this book will be Zoe Landria of Pilgrim's Way Bookshop, a long-time Jungian with a special affinity for Dr. von Franz's writings. Assisting will be Edith Chester of Pacific Grove and Don Mathews of Monterey.

The Friends of C.G. Jung is an informal group of people who share an enthusiasn for the seminal ideas of the noted Swiss psychologist. Occasional meetings such as this one are supplemented by small-group "living room" gatherings for those with special interests. For details, call or write 649-8809; 853 Pacific St., Monterey.

Top designers share their insights

PEOPLE IN Communication Arts (PiCA), Kanzaki Paper Manufacturing and CCS/Toyo will present four of America's foremost designers in a conference intitled "The Creative Gauntlet ... Surviving with a Personal Vision."

Scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 17 at the Monterey Conference Center, the conference features Seymour Chwast, Nancy Rice and Tyler Smith, moderated by Dugald Stermer.

Artist and graphic designer Seymour Chwast's clients have included Forbes Magasine, Mobil Oil and the New York Times. His art work hangs in major galleries and museums throughout the world, including the Louvre in Paris. Co-founder of Push Pin Studios.

Nancy Rice has won more awards from the New York Art Directors Club than any other art director in the past five years. After 11 award winning years at Bozzell and Jacobs in Minneapolis, Rice was a ci-founder of Fallon, McElligot and Rice. Nancy Rice is now a principal in the Rice and Rice Agency, which she formed with her husband in 1985.

Recipient of mumerous national and international graphic design awards, Tyler Smith's design work includes the "Health Research" postage stamp for the United States Postal Service, Estee Lauder, E.F. Hutton and others.

Serving as moderator is award-winning designer and illustrator Dugald Stermer, whose designs have graced the magazine covers of Time, Life, Pacific Northwest and Cuisine among others.

PiCA is a non-profit, educational organization for those employed or interested in the communication arts.

Tickets to the Oct. 17 event are $25 to non-members, $20 to non-member students and $15 to PiCA members.

If available, tickets will be sold at the door for $35. Registration is from 9-10:00 a.m. and the event will begin at 10 a.m. and end at 4:30 p.m.

For further information about "The Creative Gauntlet ... Surviving with a Personal Vision," contact Bob Wecker at 372-8377, Monday - Friday between 1 and 5 p.m.

Joyce Jones plans encore organ concert

JOYCE JONES, organ virtuoso from Waco, Texas, will perform two return engagement concerts on the Casavant organ in the Carmel Mission Basilica.

A 2:30 p.m. performance has been scheduled Sunday, Oct. 18, to be followed by a reception. A second concert will be presented at 8 p.m.

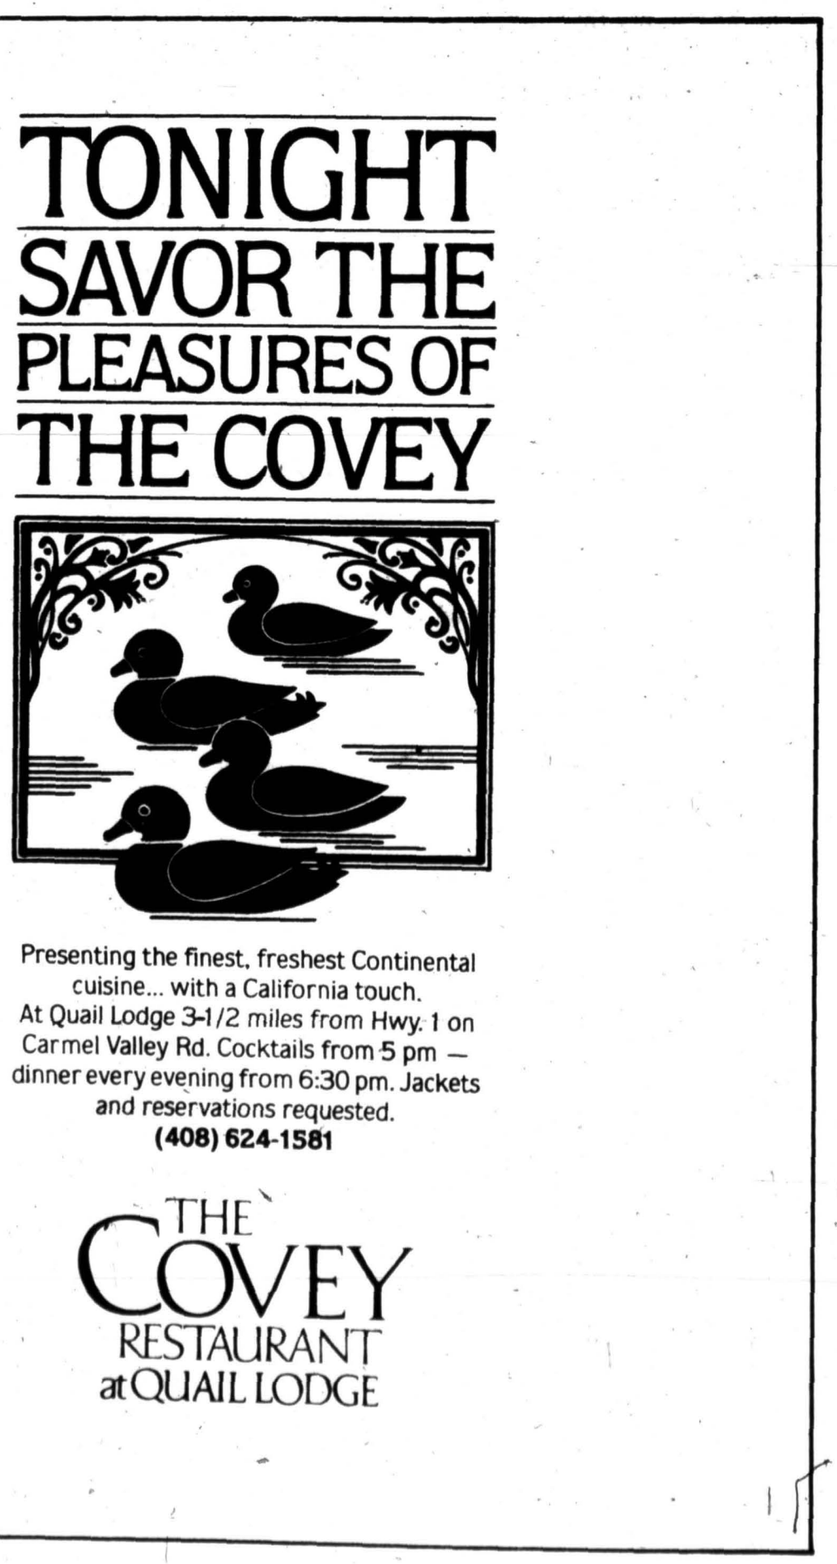

Admission is $12 to the afternoon concert and reception and $10 to the evening performance.

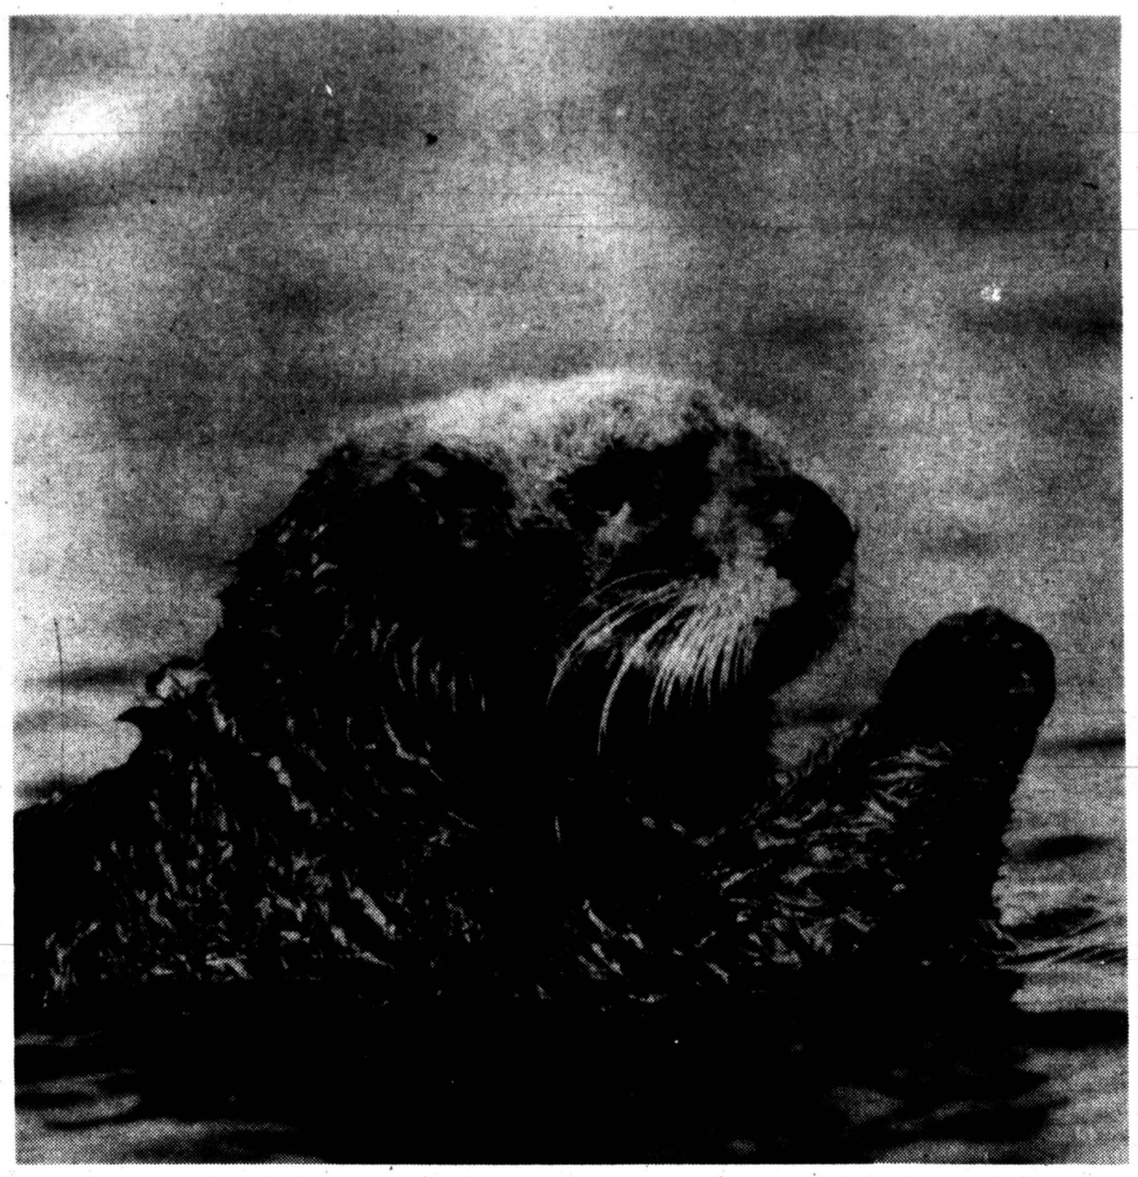

Jones is organist-in-residence at Baylor University and has performed as soloist throughout the United States, as well as in Canada, Mexico, Europe and Japan. She holds a doctor of musical arts degree from the University of Texas and a master of sacred music degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Her published works include 10 books on organ music. Jones dedicated the Casavant organ at Carmel Mission last autumn.

Further information may be obtained from the mission rectory, 624-1271.

THE FRIENDS of the Sea Otter will conduct their annual meeting Saturday, Oct. 17 at the Monterey Bay Aquarium. This is also the weekend for the inauguration of their visitors' center at the Crossroads in Carmel. The organization has also scheduled a boat trip in search of sea otters on Sunday, Oct. 18.

Friends of the Sea Otter schedule open house, programs and bay cruise

A RAFT of activities of which sea otters are the focus pulls into the Monterey Peninsula this weekend.

An open house, multi-media program and otter watching boat trip are some of the activities organized by the Friends of the Sea Otter during their 1987 annual meeting.

From 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 17-18, the Friends of the Sea Otter will showcase their new sea otter center in The Crossroads, Carmel. For 10 years the organization was housed in The Barnyard. This month the center "translocated" to the Crossroads, situated on Rio Road off Highway 1 in Carmel.

Visitors to the center will be offered free otter-watching maps and literature. Sea otter gift items are also available.

The annual meeting of the Friends of the Sea Otter will take place 7 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 17 at the Monterey Bay Aquarium, 886 Cannery Row in Monterey. The evening will pay tribute to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the California Department of Fish and Game for the restoration of the California sea otter to its ancestral home, San Nicolas Island, after an absence of more than a century.

Reports will be presented on how the otters are acclimating to their new environment.

From noon to 2 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 18, the Friends of the Sea Otter will welcome the "Blue Fin," the 63-foot patrol boat stationed in Monterey Bay by the Department of Fish and Game. Tours will be available. The ship is moored at the Coast Guard breakwater in Monterey.

Advance reservations are required for an hour-long sea otter-watching trip. The trip will leave Chris' Fishing Fleet on Fisherman's Wharf at 3 p.m. For reservations, call 625-3290 between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. Reservations can also be made at the annual meeting the previous night and on the wharf on Sunday after 2:30 p.m.

Fee is $4 for adults, $3 for children for the one-hour boat trip. Although the trip is usually calm, seasick precautions are advised for those so inclined.

Nursing home ombudsmen needed

The Monterey County Long-Term Care Ombudsman Program is seeking volunteers to help resolve complaints and problems on behalf of nursing home patients and residents in board and care homes for the elderly.

Training begins Oct. 19 and continues for two weeks, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the County Building, 1281 Broadway, in Seaside.

On completion of the 36-hour training, and on recommendation of Program staff, participants are officially designated as Ombudsmen by the State of California.

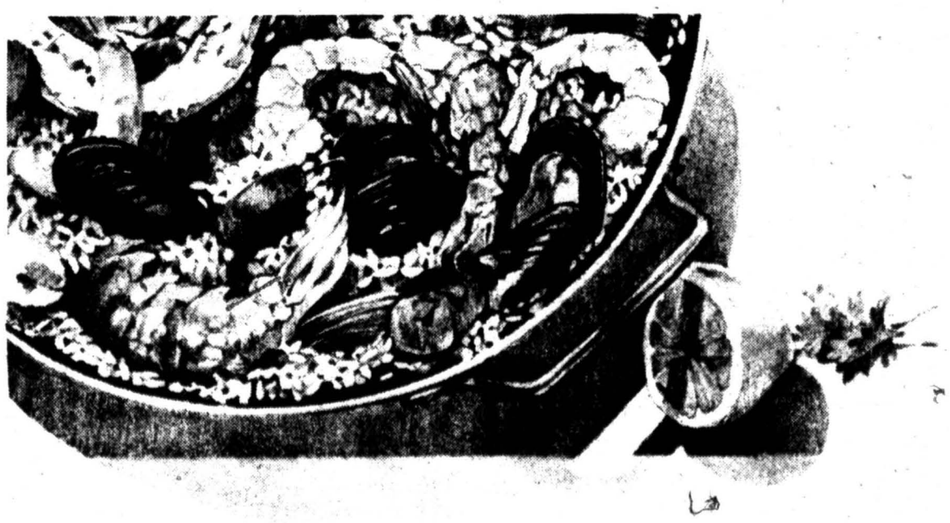

The local Ombudsman Program is one of 35 in the state mandated to receive, investigate and resolve complaints on behalf of long-term care facility residents relation to their health, safety, welfare and rights. To carry out this mandate, the program depends on trained volunteers who are assigned to visit facilities on a regular basis.

Because of the sensitive and complex nature of their work, Ombudsmen need to be patient, persistent, disciplined and diplomatic, able to work independently and to analyse facts objectively and unemotionally. Support is provided by program staff.

Full information is available by contacting Monterey County Ombudsman, on the Peninsula (899-4066) or in Salinas (758-4011).

ROUNDUP

'I am a Camera' screened

Brown Bag Cinema, the free film series presented the third Thursday of each month at the Sunset Theater, returns at 1 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 15.

I am a Camera stars Laurence Harvey, Julie Harris and Shelley Winters. The sinister Nazi takeover of German life provides an odd, ominous background to this unusual comedy, made famous by the later musical version, Cabaret. It follows a struggling young writer who becomes involved with a wild and impulsive cabaret singer. The film is based on autobiographical stories by Christopher Isherwood.

Filmgoers are invited to bring a brown bag lunch. Sunset Center provides the coffee. Lunch is enjoyed on the terrace outside the Chapman Room at noon on fine days and inside the Chapman Room when weather is inclement. At 1 p.m. all move to the Sunset Theater, located at Ninth and San Carlos in Carmel. No reservations or tickets are required.

Disruption

LUIGI Pirandello's Six Characters in Search of an Author opens Thursday, Oct. 15 at the Indoor Forest Theater in Carmel. The cast includes, from left, Ivan Flansburg as the stagehand, Philip Schwyzer as the son, Sid Cato as the father and Tommie Bates as the director. For reservations and information on subscription seating, call 624-1531.

ON STAGE

Six Characters in Search of an Author

Luigi Pirandello's Six Characters in Search of an Author opens the 18th season of plays staged by the Staff Players Repertory Company at Carmel's Indoor Forest Theater.

Pirandello was far ahead of his time in understanding the human psyche and juggling of theatrical form. In this production a company prepares to rehearse, only to be disrupted by six unexplained characters who demand to be heard.

Curtain is at 8 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 15. The play continues at 8 p.m. Thursdays through Saturdays until Nov. 14, with matinee performances scheduled at 2 p.m. Sundays, Oct. 25, Nov. 1 and 8. There will be no performances on Halloween.

The Indoor Forest Theater is located at Mountain View and Santa Rita in Carmel-by-the-Sea. Tickets are priced at $8 general and $6 for students and senior citizens. For reservations, call 624-1531.

Seascape with Sharks and Dancers

Don Nigro's contemporary play set in a small Cape Cod beach house continues at The Western Stage.

Directed by Tom Humphrey, the play focuses on a writer, Ben, and a young woman whose life he saved. Both she and Ben want to love and be loved, but wonder what living together happily demands. Antonya Molleur and Kenneth Wagner play the young lovers.

Curtain is at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Oct. 16-17. Admission is $6, $1 off for senior citizens. Seascape with Sharks and Dancers is presented in the Studio Theater of the Western Stage, headquartered at Hartnell College, 156 Homestead Ave., Salinas. Reservations can be made by calling 375-2111, 758-1221 or 649-5561.

Downtown Monterey FreeShuttle bus now runs weekends

The FreeShuttle bus connecting downtown Monterey, Cannery Row and Fisherman's Wharf now operates on weekends only.

Days and hours that the FreeShuttle operates are Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Sundays from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The FreeShuttle service was initiated in March, 1985 by the City of Monterey, the Monterey Bay Aquarium, and Monterey-Salinas Transit in response to traffic and parking problems on Cannery Row. Since that time, the special bus service has carried more than one million passengers.

All day parking is available at the East Custom House Garage for $3. The parking revenues fund the shuttle bus service and thus the ride on the FreeShuttle is free.

FreeShuttle boarding locations in downtown Monterey are:

Spanish Plaza in downtown Monterey on Del Monte Avenue at Tyler Street (across the street from the parking garage),

Del Monte Avenue in front of the Monterey Conference Center,

On Pacific Street at Scott (across the street from the California's First Theatre,

On Foam Street at Reeside (near the Coast Guard Pier),

On Cannery Row in front of the Outrigger Restaurant,

On Lighthouse Avenue at Reeside, and

At Fisherman's Wharf (near the State Parks guard shack).

A Coupla White Chicks Sitting Around Talking

John Ford Noonan's modern comedy, A Coupla White Chicks Sitting Around Talking, has been held over at the GroveMont Theater Arts Center in New Monterey.

The play, the final offering of the 1987 Festival of Women's Plays, explores the growth of friendship between two housewives. Maryann Schaupp portrays Maude, a suburban social climber building a structure for survival through a maze of commitments. Sandy Sidener is Hannah Mae, newly plucked from cowgirl-hood and struggling for acceptance in the aloof and affluent county of Westchester, N.Y.

Carey Crockett directs the play, a co-production of Unicorn Theater Presents and the GroveMont Theater. Final performances are scheduled at 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, Oct. 15-17.

Tickets are $8.50 general, $7 for students and seniors on Thursday. Friday and Saturday ticket prices are $1 higher.

The theater is at 320 Hoffman between Lighthouse and Hawthorne in New Monterey. For advance tickets, call Center Stage Ticketing, 649-5561. For reservations, call GroveMont, 649-6852.

MUSIC CORNER

By Jo Ann La Torra

Quality varies during two season openings

FOR UNDISCLOSED reasons, Aldo Ciccolini cancelled his concert last Saturday night at Sunset Theater, for the Carmel Music Society. This is, obviously, a board member's nightmare. Finding a replacement is a combination of risk, luck, desperation and availability, in more or less equal measure. To score 100% would be virtually impossible.

As it happened, Jeffrey Kahane was available and substituted for Ciccolini. This young man created quite a stir when he first appeared on the concert circuit some years back. On Saturday night, however, it was hard to discern what all the fuss was about.

In fairness to Mr. Kahane, it is noted that we do not know the circumstances surrounding the concert — from where he had to travel, how much sleep he had had, how long it had been since he had a good practice session. Furthermore, it should be remembered (as always) that the following remarks have to do with this one concert only, and that anyone can have an off night.

Kahane opened with a little-known Schubert sonata, Op. 78, in G major. Schubert was not at his best in large forms, and that certainly held true here. It was an extremely long and taxing work for an opener, both for the audience and the performer, its four movements taking considerable time to unfold. This was followed by the Polonaise-Fantasie of Chopin, Op. 61. This relatively late work is perhaps not one of his great successes. It rambled at some length, without really stating a purpose.

Kahane's performance was disappointing on almost every level. The playing tended to be either loud or soft, lacking gradation. The soft passages were too often aided by the use of the so-called soft pedal, a device which really makes the tone thinner rather than softer, and this should be used with great discretion. Chords were not carefully voiced; passage work lacked finesse; underlying structures — formal and harmonic — were not attended to. Tempos were erratic, resulting in a lack of rhythmic tension.

The second half of the program was to be devoted to the Davidsbundlertanze of Schumann. That is a piece requiring considerable wit and dramatic flair in order to avoid becoming just a string of dances. Fearful that these qualities might not be forthcoming, I elected not to stay.

•

ON SUNDAY night, the Monterey County Symphony opened its season at King Hall in Monterey. This was also an eccentric program — perhaps this will be the Year of the Eccentric Program. It was also a very long program, which is getting to be a trademark of this orchestra. Patrons get a lot of notes for each dollar invested.

Nevertheless, it was a good concert. Maestro Clark Suttle chose to open (after the traditional National Anthem) with the Roman Carnival Overture of Berlioz, and that was an excellent choice. It showed off both conductor and orchestra, with its changes of tempo and mood and its colorful orchestration.

Emile Naoumoff was guest pianist in Chopin's E minor Concerto, in a lovely, poetic performance. The work is a bit long for the kind of piece it is — i.e., somewhat dreamy and introspective. And Chopin was not really at home writing for orchestra, whose part often sounds like an orchestrated piano piece. After opening with rather a mushy string sound, the orchestra settled into its decidedly second strong role, and the pianist took over. Naoumoff is not a forceful musician, but he led effectively, playing with grace and avoiding altogether the tendency of some pianists to slam out certain passages. It was a pleasantly flexible performance, characterized especially by the delicacy of the passage work.

After intermission, the string section returned to play David Diamond's Rounds for Strings. As starved as we get for 20th century music here, I really could have done without this. It's not a great piece, in spite of some good moments; the playing was much too loose for the polyphonic texture, and it definitely sounded like filler.

That was followed by the very lengthy Pictures at an Exhibition of Mussorgsky, orchestrated by Ravel. This is very colorful, and always well-received, but for me it is just not as satisfying as the original version for the piano. An orchestration of a piano work is like any other translation. It may be very good and faithful as all get out to the intent of the composer/author, but it is not the original conception. Its vocabulary, hence it emphasis, has been altered.

CARMEL FESTIVAL OF DANCE OPENS AT SUNSET THEATER

RICHARD TYLER brought a vibrant professional dance company, the ballet Hispanico of New York, to open the Carmel Festival of Dance on Monday, Oct. 5 at Sunset Theater.

The dynamic strength of this well-trained company is in its skillful dancing and clever choreography, not in costumes or sets.

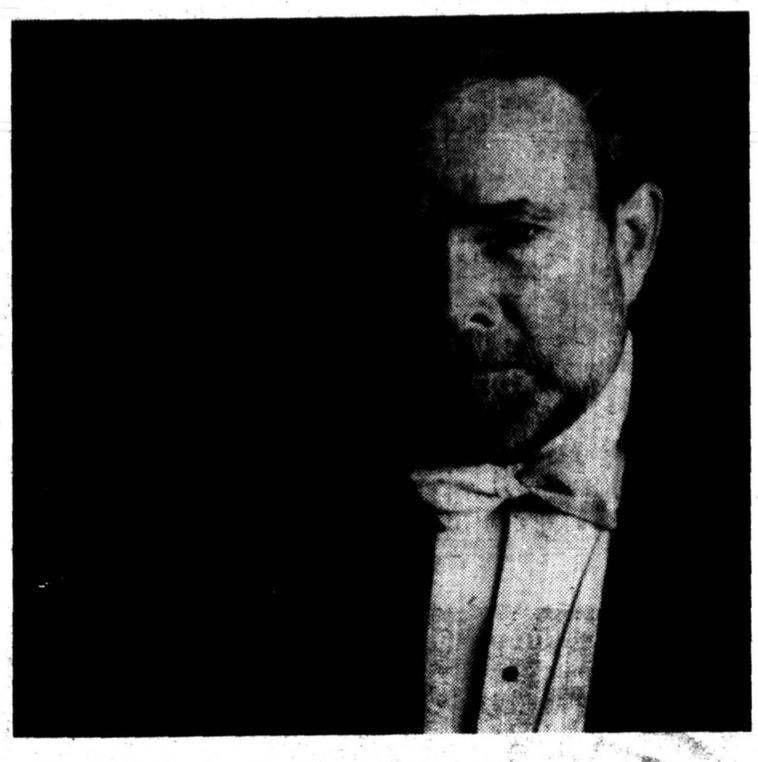

The opening, "Tito on Timbales," was fluid, well-coordinated motion, danced to the background of the timbales, the highpitched double drums of the Caribbean. Nancy Turano and Pedro Ruiz were outstanding. "Llamada" was an expressive solo danced by Mari MacKenzie

In "Recuerdo De Campo Amor" the dancers captured the contemporary beat and mood of the music in an exciting remembrance of the New York nightclub that was popular with Hispanic immigrants in the 1940s. The love duet of Mari MacKenzie and Pedro Ruiz was delightful.

A change of program introduced stark drama in "Bernada," the story of tragic betrayal of three young women based on Frederico Lorca's play, The House of Bernada Alba. The use of smoke and effective lighting intensified the dramatic tension. Program notes would have enhanced the audience's understanding of the plot.

The program concluded with "Batacuda Fantastica," a joyous salute to the carnival spirit in which the members of the company displayed their individual skills in solo dances.

< LOCAL PIANIST Lyn Bronson will perform works by Siloti, Beethoven, Brahms and Chopin in recital Sunday, Oct. 18. The concert will begin at 4 p.m. in the Monterey Peninsula College Music Hall. For ticket information, call 646-4051.

Lyn Bronson appears in recital Sunday at college

MONTEREY PENINSULA College Community Services will present pianist Lyn Bronson in a piano recital in the College Music Hall at 4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 18.

An outspoken champion of the piano and its repertoire, Bronson, a former faculty member of California State University at Fullerton and Hartnell College in Salinas, is returning to MPC for the fifth time. He is known to local audiences both as a performer and a teacher whose students have consistently distinguished themselves in competitive auditions.

In recital, Bronson will play Organ Prelude in G Minor arranged by Siloti, Beethoven's "Tempest" Sonata, Two Rhapsodies by Brahms and the Chopin Sonata No. 3 in B minor, Op. 58.

Tickets for the concert will be available at the MPC Music Hall on the afternoon of the performance. Admission is $5. For further information call MPC Community Services at 646-4051.

HOW THIS RAKE CAN SAVE YOUR LIFE.

This simple garden tool is a firefighter. It can help you clear away brush and leaves that act like kindling around your home. And you.

So if you live near the forest, do a little raking. And that's not all. Landscape your home with a fire retardant plant like ivy. Use spark arrester screens on your chimney and vents. And put fire retardant material on your roof and underneath your house where it is exposed.

Because a forest fire burns more than trees.

Remember.
Only you can prevent forest fires.

Lovely Country English Home

Drive by 26291 Mesa Place in Hatton Fields and take a look at this beautiful country English home that is immaculate throughout. Take Atherton Drive and go east on Lazarro or Mesa Drive to Mesa Place. The home has 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths with panoramic views of Carmel Valley. Each bedroom has its own deck and there is large rear deck off the living room. The large living room has a ceiling to floor fireplace and 20 foot open beam ceilings. This home is in turn-key condition and shows pride of ownership through the numerous touches and extras such as hand-painted tiles in the bathrooms, custom ceramic tile floors, custom drapes and high quality carpet. There is plenty of storage and the huge unfinished basement could be a fifth bedroom or a recreation room. $485,000.

Jacks Peak Park now open daily

Jacks Peak Regional Park is now open to the public eight hours per day.

Current operating hours are 10:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. daily. However, these hours will vary during the year as the days grow longer and shorter.

Current fees for Jacks Peak Park are $1 per car Monday through Thursday and $2 per car Friday, Saturday, Sunday and holidays. Annual day-use passes are available at the Parks Department office in Salinas for $30. For information, call 424-1971.

Lewis Heald paintings exhibited

Recent oil paintings by Lewis Heald will be shown throughout October in the Carmel Foundation Gallery, Lincoln and Eighth, Carmel.

Heald's formal art education includes two years of commercial and graphic art at USC and the Art Center, Los Angeles, followed by 30 years of graphic art work in industry and freelancing.

After retiring in 1978 to Carmel, he started painting in oils, and soon settled on a realistic technique in painting landscapes and old barns.

Heald's paintings were featured in a solo show at the Carmel Foundation in 1982. He also had a dual show at the Santa Cruz Art Gallery in 1982 and was accepted into a statewide exhibit by the Santa Cruz Art League in 1983.

Learn Peruvian needle weaving

A one-day class in Peruvian needle weaving techniques will be offered on successive Saturdays at A Stitch in Tyme in Carmel.

This ancient craft method produces figurative motifs for use in both clothing and home decoration.

Class size will be limited. The one-day programs will be offered 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Oct. 17 and 24. A Stitch in Tyme is at 26358 Carmel Rancho Lane, Carmel. For reservations, call 625-9999.

'Songs of Changing Men' performed

Singer/songwriter Geof Morgan will present "Songs of Changing Men" during a Thursday, Oct. 22 concert in the Monterey Peninsula College Music Hall.

The concert is sponsored by the "Men and Masculinity" class at MPC and Monterey County Men's Alternatives to Violence, a peer counseling program for men who want to learn alternatives to violent behavior.

Geof Morgan has written songs for Barbara Mandrell, Charlie Pride and Ernest Tubb. Since 1976, he has shifted his focus to writing and performing his own music about alienation, serious and humorous looks at changing sex roles, male violence, war in Central America, parenting and other peace issues.

The concert will begin at 8 p.m. Admission is $5, with proceeds to support community education programs.

Museum seeks photo entries

The Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art is sponsoring its fifth annual photography exhibition, open to all central and northern California artists working in photographic media.

This year's juror, Charles Desmarais, director of the California Museum of Photography, will award cash prizes ranging from $100 to $500.

Entries must be hand-delivered to the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 23 and on Saturday, Oct. 24, or sent by registered mail in fiberboard cases only, with return postage, before Oct. 23. A fee of $10 for the first entry and $5 for each additional entry will be collected.

The exhibition will open with an artists/members reception on Nov. 5, from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., and will continue through Jan. 10, 1988.

For entry forms, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art, 559 Pacific St., Monterey, CA 93940.

3 NEW HOMES IN CARMEL VALLEY

Mid-Valley—Just Completed

Ocean Valley + Golf course views are seen from this dramatic new contemporary located in a new exclusive 18 lot subdivision near mid valley shopping. Within its 3300 + sq. ft. are 3 bedrooms, 2½ baths, formal dining, eat-in kitchen, living room family room both w/fireplaces. The open floor plan and subtle changes in levels makes for a lite, bright & view oriented home ideal for all types of entertaining. The kitchen is so appealing you'll even welcome your guests there while you prepare your meals. This home is exceptional at $525,000 with landscaping.

Quail Lodge—Partially Built

The 3600 sq. ft. home on the 1st Fairway of Carmel Valley Golf & Country Club has just been framed and roofed. The floor plan is easily envisioned and now is the time to pick colors, textures, cabinets & floor coverings. The scale of this home with 9' ceilings and large rooms give one a feeling of extra elbow room. The entry draws you & your guests into a 25'x19' living room with a vaulted ceiling over 2 large beams. A fireplace separates this focal point and the 21'x19' master bedroom with another view of the same fireplace from the opposite side. The large walk-in closet and huge bath adjoining this bedroom add another 200+ sq. ft. There are 2 other generous size bedrooms and baths plus a family room/kitchen where many hours will be spent with yet another fireplace and golf course views. Planned completion date somewhere near the Super Bowl.

Foundation Laying— Carmel Valley Ranch

Not actually in Carmel Valley Ranch but with a very good view over the ranch and sunny lot this 3 bedroom, 2 bath home should be ready about march 1st 1988. The foundation is being laid this week and the plans are available for your viewing. It's about 2000 sq. ft. and ideally laid out to capture the best of the views and light. It has a 2-car garage, lots of decking, great floor plan for a retired couple or small family. Come see the plans & the views. $325,000.

REALTOR®

PERFECTION

REDECORATED and remodeled — magnificently — and set like a jewel among landscaped gardens in Carmel Highlands, a perfect home for the discriminating buyer who demands style and quality, along with ocean views. Designed by an architect, this home was remodeled by another architect and decorated by a noted interior designer, now the present owner. Handsome living room, dining room, stunning kitchen, three good bedrooms, and deck, along with big artist's studio and two-car garage. $575,000.

ONE BLOCK FROM BEACH

A STYLISHLY redecorated home only one block from Carmel beach, yet high enough for glorious whitewater views of ocean and beach. Set back from the street by a walled garden, this home features spacious living room, dining area, up-to-date kitchen, two bedrooms and two baths, and downstairs you'll find two bedrooms and a big family room with fireplace (could be a fifth bedroom), along with private patio. A fine home in a top south of Ocean Avenue location. $795,000.

P.G. LOT WITH INCOME

JUST LISTED...near the northeast corner of Central and 19th in Pacific Grove...a lot with four and one-half garages that now provides nearly $500 a month in income. The location couldn't be better — one block to the ocean, one block to town. The lot size is 45 by 60, and you could build yourself a very nice single family residence on it. Offered at $106,000.

IT SPARKLES

A CHARMING COTTAGE in a desirable Pacific Grove location, thoroughly remodeled and redecorated so that you can move right in! All new are the heating system, copper pipes, electrical system, insulation, kitchen cabinets, appliances and roof. Besides that, you'll find two bedrooms, dining room, fireplace, big fenced yard, laundry, period wainscoting, and shingled exterior. What more could you ask for $179,500?

CARMEL BOUTIQUE

IN A GOOD downtown location, we've listed a highly successful women's wear shop for sale. It shows an enviable growth record in its 10 years of existence, thanks to its stylish and exclusive lines of merchandise. The owners are retiring, but one would stay on to help you get started. $125,000.

How to Stretch Out in Style

The lot is huge, a full acre and a quarter. A long drive leads down from the road, at 204 Upper Walden in Carmel Highlands, and loops around in front of the house. On the way, you'll pass through a grove of towering Monterey pines. You're several hundred feet above the ocean to the west, and through the trees you'll catch glimpses of blue water.

The house itself is about 100 feet wide and 30 feet deep. The exterior is board and batten, painted an off-white with sky blue trim. A long deck, nearly 75 feet, crosses the back and is reached through 3 sets of sliding glass doors. At the far end is a giant hot tub. You feel like you're in the wilds, and the silence is deafening.

Inside, a giant beam of redwood stretches from one end of the house to the other raising the ceilings to a pitch of around 25 degrees. In most rooms the cross planking is knotty pine stained a redwood color, though in 2 of the 3 bedrooms the ceilings are light-stained. All the walls are white.

There's a great feeling of spaciousness here. You step through a tiled entrance hall to the 22x20 living room, windows along the west, a stone fireplace on the north and the open kitchen across a service counter to the east. This is replete with oak cabinets, furnished with the finest in modern appliances. A skylight keeps it bright by day, and 2 oak-trimmed chandeliers do the job at night.

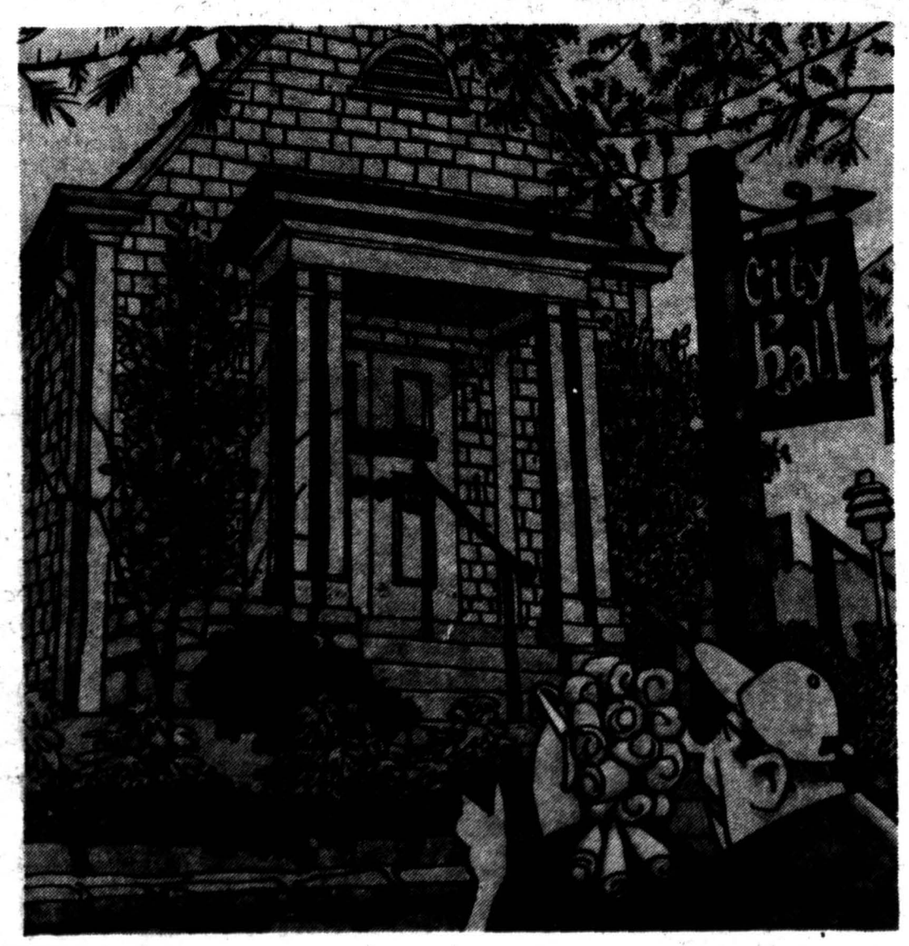

A long interior corridor stretches from the living room all the way back to the master suite on the south. Along the way, you pass the large dining room adjoining the living room, a bathroom and 2 bedrooms, all generous in size.

The master bedroom is 13x18, carpeted like the rest of the house, with a roomy dressing room closet and another wall wide closet. Glass doors open to the deck and hot tub, and the bath is...well, stylish.

An oversize 2 car garage is on the north end and includes laundry facilities. The backyard is spacious, with fruit trees. There's track lighting in living room and master bedroom, plus a variety of interesting chandeliers.

One would hardly call this place "cute;" it's too big for that, too stretchable, too comfortable. Or "charming;" it's too new. The price is $349,000.

CARMEL LEGENDS

No. 37

Chances are you don't know where FRASER WAY is. So pay attention and amaze your friends with your knowledge of Carmel trivia. It's a short, one-block street that runs from Casanova to Camino Real below 13th and just north of Santa Lucia. It's the only deviation from the otherwise geometrically perfect gridwork of streets laid out in 1902 by square-rigged developers Devendorf and Powers. And it's a monument to the great Fraser Feud of 1906-14. The Fraser brothers, Hector and Wilbur, owned the whole block, a gift from their father, Hector, Sr. Wilbur had an ambition to create a public inn which he would call Fraser Ranch. "You're nuts," said Hector. "This is a quiet, residential community." The arguement raged for 9 years and was settled only when Hector cut off the lower tip of the block and deeded it to Wilbur "in fee simple." Today there are 4 houses on Fraser Way the dividing line, none an inn. And, if you believe this story, we have some stock in the new bridge that will cross Carmel Bay that we'd like to discuss with you.

CARMEL

FIRST TIME OPEN! Once upon a time, back in 1928, a storybook cottage was designed and built by Hugh Comstock, and it was christened "Fables." Now lovingly restored and decorated, it features a Carmel stone fireplace and chimney, light-toned hardwood floors, designer draperies, and new appliances. Set in an English country garden with stone walkways & patios, this is a fantasy come true with an ocean view! $295,000. 625-4111.

WALK TO TOWN! Only four blocks to shopping, a charming Carmel home with generous-sized rooms and large sheltered patio offering southern exposure. Complete with vaulted & beamed ceilings, this 2 bedroom, 2 bath home of redwood exterior has a white-brick fireplace in the living room, dining area off a large kitchen, and a partial basement. Plus 250 sq. ft. of decking. $232,500. 625-4111.

GRACIOUS CARMEL MEADOWS HOME! A circular drive leads to this attractive & immaculate single story home offering views of the hills and fields. There are two brick fireplaces — one in the spacious living room, the other in the master suite with sliding doors to the patio & lovely master bath. Formal dining room off compact kitchen which has tile counter tops and opens into the family room. Two other bedrooms & 1½ other baths. This home shows pride of ownership throughout. $385,000. 625-0300.

SOUTH OF OCEAN AREA! In wonderful neighborhood within walking distance to the beach, a delightful 2 bedroom, 2 bath one-level well constructed home with comfortable floor plan. Downstairs brick patio. Highlights include used-brick fireplace in spacious beamed-ceiling living room off sunny patio entrance, large cabinet kitchen off dining area, and storage area. Peek of ocean & Point Lobos views from corner of downstairs brick patio. Owner highly motivated. $389,000. 625-0300.

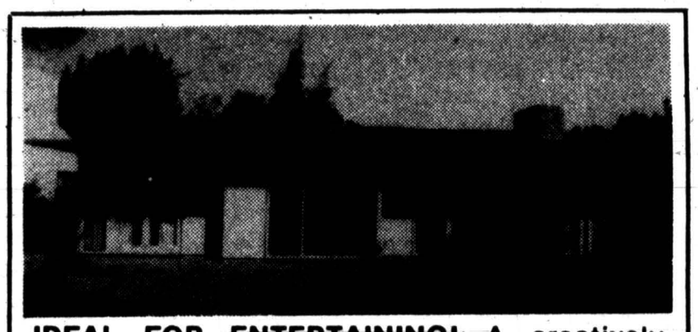

ENCHANTING STORYBOOK HOME! "Devon House" is a two-story home built by Hugh Comstock with his attention to fine construction. The special taste and care in design typify everything you would want in a charming Carmel home. English gardens greet you on your arrival, and stained-beveled glass windows provide additional color. French doors open from the dining room and remodeled kitchen to a large wooden deck. And there is a Carmel stone fireplace warming the beamed-ceiling living room, hardwood floors throughout, 2 bedrooms & 2 remodeled baths. Ideally located south of Ocean within walking distance to the beach! $550,000. 625-0300.

CARMEL POINT + OCEAN VIEWS! Listen to the sounds of ocean waves from this prime property located just one block to the sea. Set on two legal lots and capturing gorgeous ocean views, this 3 bedroom, 2 bath home is to be sold "as is." The price of $545,000 reflects the land value. 625-00300.

CARMEL VALLEY

JUST LISTED! In Carmel Valley sunshine, offering gorgeous views, an attractive contemporary situated on a nicely landscaped low maintenance acre in a quiet, peaceful neighborhood in upper Tierra Grande. On one level, this 3 bedroom, 2 bath home has a spacious living room, family room, and kitchen overlooking an oversized patio and solar heated swimming pool & spa. Well priced at $249,500. 625-0300.

CVG&CC CONDO. Only 5 minutes drive from Carmel, offering sunshine & fairway views, a delightful 2 bedroom, 2 bath end unit of approximately 1650 sq. ft. off CVG&CC. Tile entry, open-beam ceiling living room with fireplace, dining area with wet bar, and spacious master bedroom. Southern exposure with deck facing the 5th tee. $250,000. 625-0300.

IDEAL FOR ENTERTAINING! A creatively designed spacious home offering dramatic beauty, plus an open floor plan ideal for entertaining...privately nestled on beautifully landscaped grounds near CVG&CC. The high ceilinged sunken living room is accented by a fireplace, and on chilly nights Franklin stoves warm the family room, with wet bar and master suite with loft. There are 2 other bedrooms & 2½ baths. Outside enjoy the decks, tiled Jacuzzi spa & separate pool house. $695,000. 625-0300.

EXCELLENT CONDO ALTERNATIVE! In Carmel Valley sunshine, the least expensive home in CVG&CC area, a light & sunny 3 bedroom, 2 bath home...ideal as a golfer's retreat, retirement home or condo alternative! A fireplace warms the large living room with views of the patio, and there is a formal dining room, family room and cheerful kitchen...in a flexible floor plan, plus lots of closet space. $310,000. 625-0300.

CARMEL HIGHLANDS

OCEAN & FOREST VIEW CONTEMPORARY! Set in a clearing of pines and oaks in Carmel Highlands, a marvelous, light contemporary quality constructed and refinished one year ago...offering sea & forest views! A NEW DAM ON THE CARMEL RIVER

NEW SAN CLEMENTE PROJECT— A CITIZEN'S GUIDE

(OCTOBER 1987)

MONTEREY PENINSULA
WATER MANAGEMENT DISTRICT
187 Eldorado • Suite E • P.O. Box 85 • Monterey, CA 93940 • (408) 649-4866

THE MONTEREY PENINSULA'S WATER SUPPLY SYSTEM NEEDS IMPROVEMENT BECAUSE:

- WE ARE VULNERABLE TO WATER SHORTAGES IN DROUGHTS
- WATER DEMAND IS INCREASING
- PRESENT WATER SUPPLY PRACTICES ARE HARMING THE CARMEL RIVER

THE MONTEREY PENINSULA WATER MANAGEMENT DISTRICT HAS PROPOSED THE NEW SAN CLEMENTE PROJECT TO:

- INCREASE WATER SUPPLY IN DROUGHTS
- PROVIDE FOR PLANNED GROWTH
- PRESERVE AND IMPROVE THE NATURAL RESOURCES OF THE CARMEL RIVER

AN ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT REPORT AND STATEMENT HAS BEEN COMPLETED AND IS AVAILABLE FOR YOUR COMMENT. IT COMPARES THREE RESERVOIR SIZES AND CONDITIONS WITHOUT A NEW DAM.

TO LEARN MORE ABOUT IT, TURN THE PAGE.....

NEED FOR A PROJECT

DROUGHT RESERVE

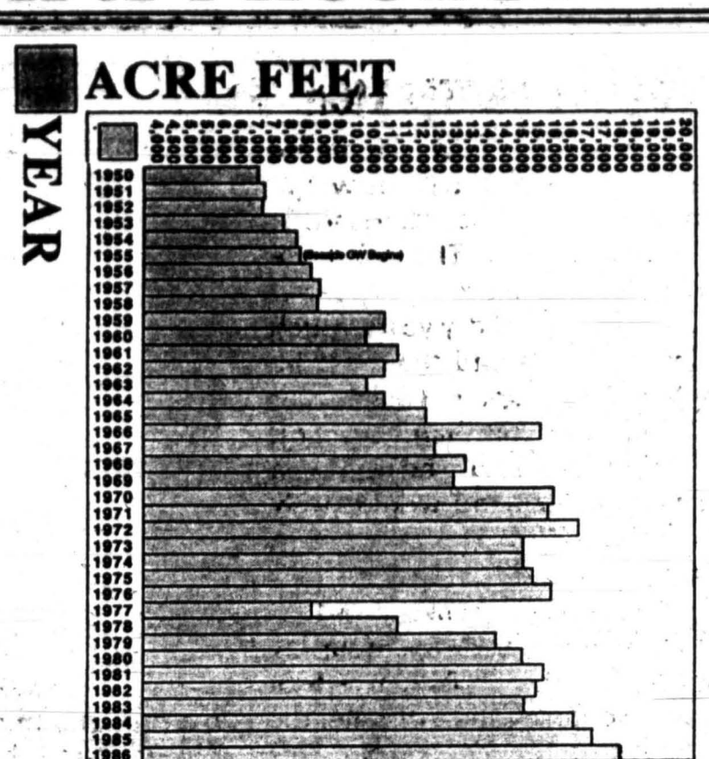

Strict rationing was necessary in the 1976-1977 drought when supply fell short of demand by about 50%. Despite four wells drilled in 1981, we remain vulnerable to droughts. As water demand grows with time, the risk of water shortages in dry years becomes greater. If a severe drought occurred today, supply would fall short of demand by about 12%. If the same drought occurred in the year 2000, there would be a 23% shortfall.

WATER DEMAND

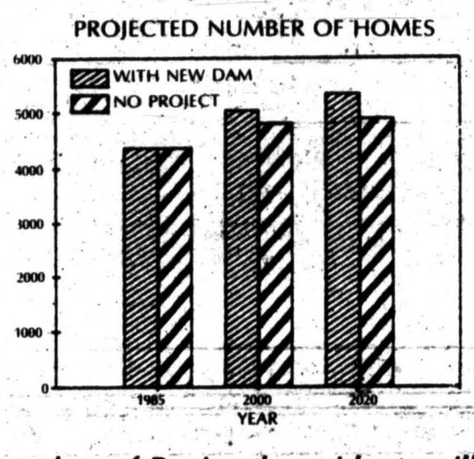

Water demand on the Peninsula has nearly tripled since Los Padres Dam was built in 1949. Demand is projected to increase by over 25% by the year 2020. At the same time, siltation is reducing the storage capacity of existing reservoirs.

ENVIRONMENTAL DAMAGE

The quality of the Carmel River environment has been damaged. Adequate water is not available to provide for steelhead trout, a popular sport fish, and other aquatic life. Streamside vegetation that supports birds and wildlife is dying. There has also been significant erosion and property damage. Recreational opportunities are lost when the river goes dry each summer.

Water demand on the Monterey Peninsula has increased dramatically.

The number of Peninsula residents will increase in the future.

PREVIOUS ACTION

WATER CONSERVATION

The District has an active conservation program in place. Its goal is to achieve a 15% reduction in projected water demand by the year 2020. Aspects of the program include a conservation ordinance, distribution of water saving kits to homes throughout the District, a turf management program for more efficient watering of greenbelts and golf courses, a leak detection program for small water companies, and a public education campaign.

RECLAMATION

The District is cooperating with several agencies and golf clubs to implement wastewater reclamation in Del Monte Forest. Highly treated wastewater from the Carmel Sanitary District plant would be applied to golf courses and open space instead of the drinking water that is presently used. Thus more fresh water would be available for human use.

ALLOCATION SYSTEM

Water supply and demand are balanced by a water allocation system. The District limits Cal-Am annual production to 20,000 acre-feet. Each city or county area receives a percentage of this amount. If a community exceeds its share, a moratorium on new water connections is declared.

ORDINANCE 19

Ordinance 19 requires that Cal-Am divert no more than 35% of total water production from the existing San Clemente Dam. This allows more water to flow downstream and into the ground water storage basin. The water is available for fish, wildlife, vegetation and recreation before it is pumped by Cal-Am and other users. Thus the same water meets both the needs of man and the environment.

RESOURCE MANAGEMENT

Several District programs protect Carmel River resources. The Carmel River Management Program works to prevent and control erosion, stabilize river channels and improve streamside vegetation. Over 50,000 lineal feet of willows have been planted to improve unstable areas.

An irrigation program protects vegetation near large wells from dehydration due to lowered water tables. The District continually monitors the status of our water quality and supply.

NEW WELLS

In 1981, the District supported the drilling of four new Cal-Am wells in lower Carmel Valley. These wells significantly reduce our drought vulnerability.

ENVIRONMENTAL REPORTS

State and federal laws require that thorough environmental reviews be conducted for any major project. These documents are called an Environmental Impact Report (EIR) and an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS). These documents fully describe the environmental effects of a project before a decision is made to proceed.

A combined Draft EIR/EIS for the New San Clemente Project has been completed. It examines the potential beneficial and adverse impacts of three reservoir sizes: 16,000 acre-feet, 20,000 acre-feet and 29,000 acre-feet. (An acre-foot is about 326,000 gallons, or the annual water use of 3-4 homes). It also analyzes the impacts of the "No Project" alternative, or what would occur if a new dam is not built. An EIR/EIS also reviews what action should be taken to minimize or compensate for significant adverse impacts.

All of the proposed dam sizes would allow the same amount of planned growth and would have similar construction impacts. The projects would differ in their impacts on dry year water supply, drought reserve, hydrology, and several environmental factors. The EIR/EIS discusses these differences. The 29,000 acre-foot project is highlighted on these pages, but the final size will not be selected until after the Final EIR/EIS is certified by the District Board.

PROJECT DESCRIPTION

The 29,000 AF dam would be 300 feet high and span 900 feet. It would lie about 3.5 miles southeast of Carmel Valley Village, approximately 1/2 mile downstream of the existing San Clemente Dam.

The new reservoir would cover about 345 surface acres, including the existing dam. This compares to 30 acres for the existing reservoir. Los Padres Dam would not be affected by the New San Clemente Project.

The project proposal also includes new wells in Carmel Valley and coastal Seaside in addition to improved capacity for the Begonia Water Treatment Plant. Facilities to transport migratory fish over the dam would be built.

Existing programs such as erosion control, conservation, and riparian irrigation would continue as part of the project. Water from the dam would be available for planned growth in three phases.

The new dam would not provide flood control or hydroelectric power, though hydro-power could be added in the future. Recreation would be limited to hiking, picnicking, or horseback riding; no motorized vehicles, swimming or fishing would be allowed.

DAM CONSTRUCTION

The new dam would be made out of roller compacted concrete or "rollcrete." Construction would take about two years and employ 180-300 workers in several shifts. An average of 30 trucks per day would travel San Clemente Drive and Carmel Valley Road in each direction. During the 7-9 month rollcrete phase, work at the dam site would proceed around-the-clock; trucks would travel on Carmel Valley Road only in the daytime during this period.

Traffic on Carmel Valley Road near Carmel Valley Village would increase by about 20% during construction. Large trucks may need pilot vehicles or flagmen to make the tight turns near the dam site.

Construction activities such as blasting, excavation, rock-crushing, rollcrete application and vegetation clearing would lead to short-term increases in dust and erosion, and a decrease in water clearness. Construction noise, especially from blasting, would be most noticable by residents of Sleepy Hollow near Carmel Valley Village. Construction techniques and management practices to reduce these impacts will be employed.

DAM OPERATIONS

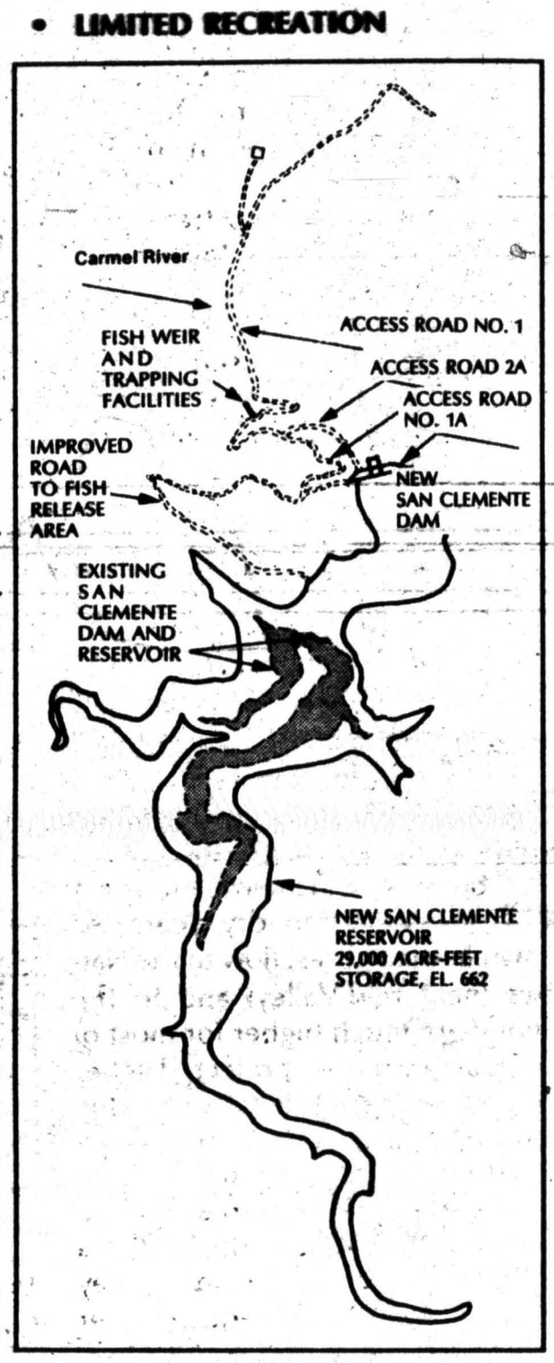

Water from the new dam would be used in conjunction with ground water stored in Carmel Valley and coastal Seaside. Except for the driest years, water from the dam would be released year-round to provide for fish, vegetation and recreation.

Water released from the dam would also percolate into the Carmel Valley Aquifer to be pumped by Cal-Am and other well owners. The amount of water released would vary with rainfall, the time of year and the steelhead life cycle.

Cal-Am and several small water companies would receive project water. The District would own and operate the new dam, reservoir and fish passage facilities. Cal-Am would retain ownership of its existing facilities (except San Clemente Dam) plus the new wells in Carmel Valley and Seaside. Cal-Am would not receive windfall profits due to the new dam.

PROJECT ELEMENTS

- 29,000 ACRE-FOOT RESERVOIR (other sizes: 16,000 & 20,000)
- 300 FOOT HIGH DAM (or smaller)
- FISH PASSAGE FACILITIES
- NEW WELLS IN SEASIDE AND CARMEL VALLEY
- INCREASED CAPACITY AT BEGONIA TREATMENT PLANT
- PHASED WATER YIELD PLAN
- CONTINUED MANAGEMENT PROGRAMS
- LIMITED RECREATION

The new dam will be located about 3.5 miles southeast of Carmel Valley Village.

MONEY MATTERS

The project cannot proceed without voter approval. Construction costs are estimated at $44 million (1986 dollars) for the 29,000 acre-foot project. This amount may be higher due to inflation, design revisions and mitigations required by government agencies.

Assuming the $44 million capital cost and an interest rate of 9.5%, the total annual cost, including financing charges and operations, would be about $5.8 million for 30 years. Revenues to pay the annual cost are proposed as follows:

RESIDENTIAL USER FEE	35%
COMMERCIAL USER FEE	35%
CONNECTION CHARGES	22%
INTEREST AND OTHER	8%

The average residence would experience a $4 per month water bill increase, or a 20% increase on each bill. Actual cost will vary depending on water use. Lifeline users, for example, may only pay about $1 per month more.

The average commercial user would experience a $45 per month water bill increase, and would pay 1.7 times more per unit of water than residents.

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACTS

FISH AND WILDLIFE

According to wildlife agencies, the Carmel River supports an important natural run of steelhead trout. This run has declined in recent decades, and our fishery experts predict that the population may suffer irreparable losses in the next series of dry years.

State and federal law requires that a water supply project release water to maintain and enhance fish populations. Because the New San Clemente Project would inundate about three miles of steelhead spawning habitat, a major project goal is to enhance conditions for the Carmel River steelhead downstream of the dam.

Except in the driest years, flows would be released to provide a proper environment for the fish throughout its life cycle. The project also includes facilities to help spawners swimming upstream and youngsters swimming downstream pass over the dam.

No endangered or threatened species would be adversely affected by the new reservoir. Some birds and other wildlife would temporarily leave the dam site due to construction noise.

PERCENTAGE OF YEARS WITH DIFFERENT SIZES OF STEELHEAD RUN

Upstream of Dam

Size of Run	No Project	29,000 AF Reservoir
Excellent	0	17
Good	6	17
Fair	2	35
Poor	19	8
Zero	73	23

Downstream of Dam

Size of Run	No Project	29,000 AF Reservoir
Excellent	0	21
Good	8	15
Fair	10	29
Poor	29	6
Zero	54	29

The new dam would greatly improve the Carmel River steelhead population.

HYDROLOGY

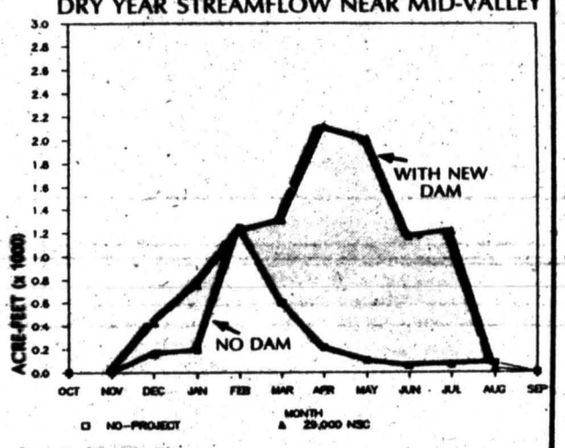

The new reservoir would somewhat reduce winter storm flows, but greatly increase flows in spring and summer. Year-round flow to the Lagoon in most years would benefit the streamside vegetation and the birds and wildlife it supports.

The benefits of the new dam would be most evident in dry years. As shown in the figures, flow to the Narrows (near mid-Valley) and to the Lagoon are much higher for most of the year with the project. Higher ground water levels are also associated with this flow, which would benefit vegetation.

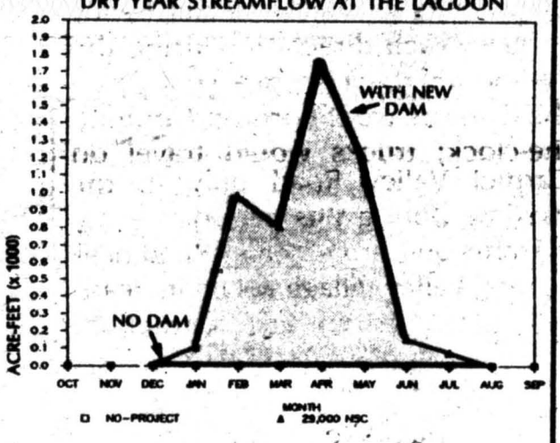

In contrast, the "No Project" situation would result in reduced flows and a dry river below mid-Valley every summer. Thus adequate water would not be available for fish, vegetation and other river-dependent wildlife.

The changes in the streamflow patterns due to the new dam would probably lead to increased vegetation and a narrower river channel. This combination could lead to potentially higher flood levels if not carefully managed. The reduction in smaller storm flows may also lead to increased siltation at the Lagoon in some years.

DRY YEAR STREAMFLOW NEAR MID-VALLEY

DRY YEAR STREAMFLOW AT THE LAGOON

The new dam would increase Carmel River flow, especially in dry years.

WILDLIFE HABITAT

Up to 345 acres of wildlife habitat would be covered under water. This would include about 30 acres of riparian (streamside) forest. This type of habitat is highly valued as it has become increasingly rare in California and supports many animal species.

Riparian vegetation downstream of the new dam would benefit from the increased flows provided by the project. In addition, the District is required to implement a mitigation plan to compensate for the acreage lost. The plan entails a series of revegetation projects, where riparian species would be planted in suitable areas that currently are bare.

PUBLIC SAFETY

Construction on the new dam cannot begin unless it meets stringent state safety standards. The District was required to analyze several public safety factors including earthquakes, dam break and flood potential.

Numerous studies show that no earthquake faults exist at the dam site. Exceptionally cautious seismic design standards were used for the earthquake and ground-shaking potential of nearby faults. The dam was also designed to withstand the Probable Maximum Flood determined by the Army Corps of Engineers.

Because the dam would be a roller compacted concrete structure, it has an extremely low risk of failure. However, the District was required to create a computerized "worst case" scenario to analyze what would happen if the dam was somehow severely damaged. If the dam suddenly sustained a 150-foot hole when the reservoir and the river were both full, the resulting flood wave would reach Highway One within an hour.

Studies were performed to assess the potential of landslides that could cause a wave to overtop the dam. Several old slides were found that should not pose any hazard. A few slides that are still questionable will be studied in more detail prior to project authorization.

WATER SUPPLY BENEFITS

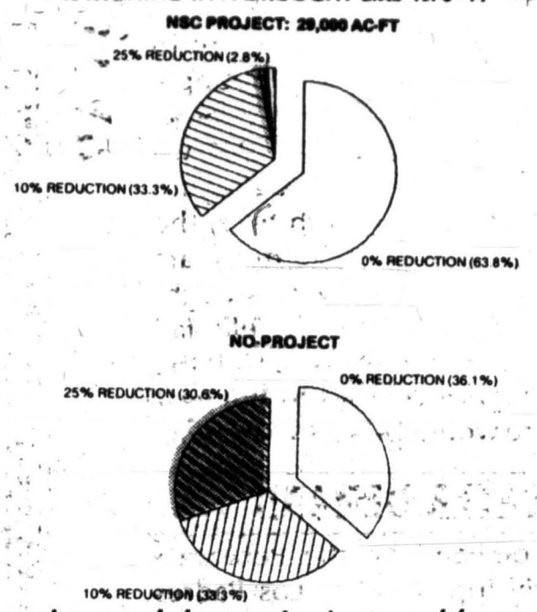

DROUGHT PROTECTION

Both the New San Clemente Project and existing facilities would meet municipal water demand in normal and wet years. The difference between the two occurs in dry years, especially a series of dry years. Much smaller shortages and few, less intense levels of rationing would occur with a new reservoir than without it in a drought. This would be true even though water demand would likely be greater with the New San Clemente Project.

If a two year drought like 1976-1977 occurred in the year 2020, the supply provided by the 29,000 acre-foot reservoir would fall short of water demand by 8% in the second year. This shortage would require voluntary conservation for one year plus one month of mandatory rationing.

Without a project (and if normal year production was limited to 20,000 acre-feet), supply would fall short of water demand by 23% in the second year. This shortage would require one year of voluntary conservation plus 11 months of mandatory rationing.

RATIONING IN A DROUGHT LIKE 1976 - 77

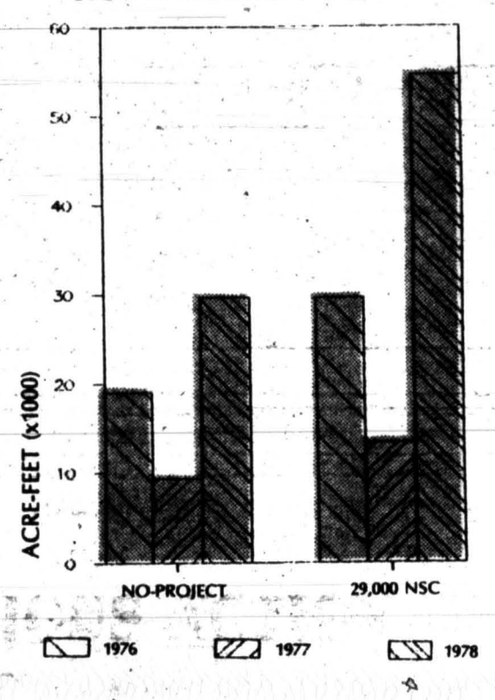

In a drought, much less rationing would occur with a new dam. Areas in blue indicate mandatory rationing.

STORAGE RESERVE

Significantly more storage reserves would be available with the new dam. In dry years like 1976-77, water reserves would be over 40% greater with the 29,000 acre-foot reservoir than without it. More water would be available in case a drought lasted for more than two years.

STORAGE RESERVES IN A DROUGHT

The new dam would provide more storage reserves during a drought.

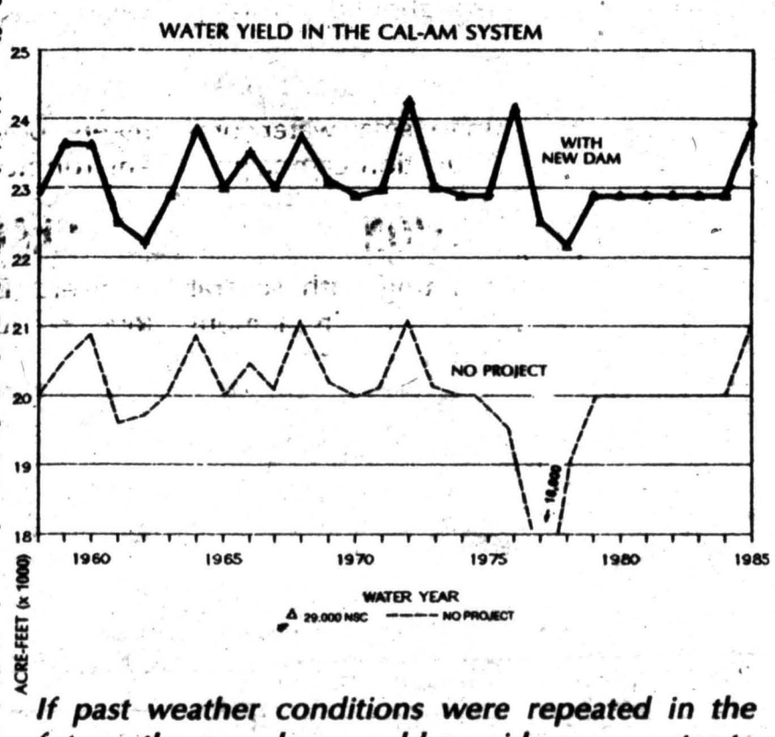

ADDITIONAL WATER

The District presently limits Cal-Am production to 20,000 acre-feet per year. Each city or county area within the District receives a percentage of this amount. If a community exceeds its share, District law prohibits the setting of new water meters.

The New San Clemente Project would increase the production limit to nearly 22,900 acre-feet per year, or a 2,900 acre-foot increase. However, this amount would be added in three phases to ensure that water is available for planned growth through the year 2020. Once the project is authorized by voters, the production limit or the phasing could only be changed by a subsequent public vote. Allotments to individual jurisdictions are not presently planned.

The new reservoir would consistently supply more water than is possible with the existing facilities. It could also accommodate dry year water demands exceeding 24,000 acre-feet.

WATER YIELD IN THE CAL-AM SYSTEM

If past weather conditions were repeated in the future, the new dam would provide more water to meet demand.

COMMUNITY GROWTH

Growth and increased water use will occur whether or not the New San Clemente Project is built; however, the project will affect the amount of growth that could occur.

The new dam would allow all planned growth projected for the year 2020. If no project is built, growth in the District will most likely be curtailed by the year 2000, assuming the 20,000 acre-foot limit on demand remains in effect. Growth in some communities is presently limited by water supply. Increased conservation savings are expected to improve this situation.

In the Cal-Am system, the projected increase in growth with the new dam compared to the No Project could be about:

- 9,650 MORE PEOPLE (9% more)
- 4,540 MORE HOMES (9% more)
- 17,290 MORE JOBS (35% more)
- 3,200 MORE HOTEL ROOMS (33% more)
- 2,900 AF MORE WATER USE (14.5% more)

Actual conditions in the future will be determined by market forces and city/county planning decisions. Increased traffic would be the major impact if all planned growth comes to pass.

ALTERNATIVE PROJECTS

State and federal laws require that alternatives to any proposed project must be examined in environmental documents. The District studied over 30 water supply alternatives to determine which could meet its three main goals: municipal supply for drought reserve, planned growth and environmental protection. Examples include:

- IMPORT WATER FROM OTHER AREAS
- VARIOUS-SIZED CARMEL RIVER DAMS
- DAMS ON SELECTED TRIBUTARIES
- DREDGE EXISTING RESERVOIRS
- SEASIDE BASIN GROUND WATER
- GROUND WATER RECHARGE (SEASIDE)
- WASTEWATER RECLAMATION
- DESALINIZATION
- ADDED WATER CONSERVATION
- CISTERNS TO CATCH RAINWATER

A systematic process was used to evaluate these alternatives and is described in the EIR/EIS. The ability of individual alternatives or combinations of alternatives to provide satisfactory water supply for people and the environment was determined. The New San Clemente Project variations were the only alternatives that met all District goals. This section briefly describes some of the more important alternatives.

TRIBUTARY DAMS

More than 90 possible dam sites on tributaries to the Carmel River were examined. The most favorable were on Chupines Creek, San Clemente Creek and Cachagua Creek.

Wildlife agencies prefer tributary dams because they would not block Carmel River steelhead migration. Unfortunately, the cost of new water would be much more expensive with these dams and they did not meet the required standards for human and environmental water supply. Some, like Chupines Creek Dam, would destroy protected agricultural land and an important archaeological site.

DREDGING RESERVOIRS

The capacity of both existing reservoirs has been reduced by accumulated sediment. If both were dredged, storage would be increased by about 2,200 acre-feet to a total of about 5,200 acre-feet. Unfortunately, this amount is not enough to meet our future water needs.

A major problem with dredging is disposal of tons of sediment, which must be trucked to a site away from the river. Dredging also re-suspends bottom particles which can adversely affect aquatic life. Because 20 acre-feet of sediment are deposited in the reservoirs each year, dredging would have to be repeated over time. Though dredging itself is not that expensive, disposal would increase the ultimate cost of new water to 5-10 times more than water from a new dam.

SEASIDE GROUND WATER

A large ground water basin exists under Fort Ord, Laguna Seca and the city of Seaside. Unfortunately, much of it is unavailable for municipal use. The District drilled wells to determine the production potential of the inland Seaside Basin with poor results. An investigation of the coastal basin showed that not much more water should be extracted than is pumped now.

RECLAMATION

Wastewater reclamation for use on golf courses, playing fields and other open space efficiently uses existing water supply more than once. However, it does not increase the amount of water available to the District, and does not provide water to improve the Carmel River environment. The market for reclaimed water is also limited here.

Both conventional technology and aquaculture has been explored by the District. Agreements are now in progress to irrigate turf in Del Monte Forest with about 800 acre-feet of highly treated wastewater from the Carmel Sanitary District Plant.

LEARN MORE ABOUT IT

If you want to learn more about the New San Clemente Project, its benefits, impacts, and alternatives, we suggest you read the Draft Environmental Impact Report/Statement (EIR/EIS). This comprehensive document is chock full of facts and figures.

The District has placed copies of the New San Clemente EIR/EIS in all local public libraries for your convenience. We also have copies at our office, 187 El Dorado, Suite E, in Monterey. You may request one copy of the main document at no charge. There is a $15 charge for the technical appendices. You may prefer to pick up a 10-page summary of the EIR/EIS free of charge.

VOTE ON NOVEMBER 3

ON NOVEMBER 3, RESIDENTS WITHIN THE MONTEREY PENINSULA WATER MANAGEMENT DISTRICT CAN PARTICIPATE IN AN ADVISORY ELECTION FOR THE NEW SAN CLEMENTE PROJECT. A YES VOTE MEANS YOU APPROVE OF THE PROPOSED NEW DAM ON THE CARMEL RIVER; IT DOES NOT PLEDGE ANY PUBLIC FUNDS TOWARD DAM CONSTRUCTION. A NO VOTE MEANS YOU DO NOT APPROVE OF THE PROPOSED NEW DAM AND WISH THE DISTRICT WOULD MODIFY THEPROJECT,PURSUE ANOTHER PROJECT OR CONSIDER NO PROJECT AT ALL.

A LONG AND WINDING ROAD

WHAT'S NEXT?

The completion of the Draft EIR/EIS is but one step in a long, exacting process toward the construction of any new water supply project. The District must respond to all comments on the Draft EIR/EIS and prepare a Final EIR/EIS. This document is then reviewed by more than 40 state and federal agencies for another 30 days and revised again, if necessary.

The final EIR/EIS should be complete by March 1988, assuming no delays. Following certification, the District Board will select a specific project with which to proceed.

IMPORTANT PERMITS

The District must obtain permission to build a project from several agencies. Four of the most important include the State Water Resources Control Board, Division of Water Rights; the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers; State Department of Water Resources, Division of Dam Safety; and State Department of Fish and Game.

We are considered a developer in the eyes of these agencies; like any developer, we must show that our project is beneficial to the public good and does not result in significant negative impacts to the environment. We must also negotiate with 14 water rights protestants who have challenged our request for water.

APPROVAL CONDITIONS

Permits for project construction or water rights often entail specific conditions. For a dam, these conditions will likely involve (1) fish passage facilities and a schedule of water releases for fish, (2) revegetation projects and habitat enhancement to compensate for land that is inundated by a new reservoir, and (3) specific design requirements to satisfy the Division of Dam Safety.

These conditions or mitigations could add to the project cost and/or alter the amount of water for municipal use. For this reason, an authorizing vote that approves issuing a bond to pay for project construction will not be held until after the permit conditions are known.

Assuming the bond is approved by voters in early 1989, it will take another 3-4 years for final design and construction. Water delivery is anticipated in winter 1993, assuming no lawsuits or other untimely delays.

LET'S HEAR FROM YOU!

Do you have questions or concerns about the New San Clemente Project EIR/EIS? If so, you are encouraged to attend one of several public forums on the project. You will hear a presentation by Mr. John Davis, the principal author of the EIR/EIS, and will have an opportunity to ask questions and provide comments on the document. Responses to all comments will be included in the Final EIR/EIS. Mark you calendar now!

MONDAY, OCTOBER 19 (Workshops)

3:00 P.M.	Trail and Saddle Club East Garzas Road, Carmel Valley
7:30 P.M.	Crossroads Community Room The Crossroads, Carmel

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 20 (Workshops)

3:00 P.M.	Seaside City Council Chambers City Hall, Seaside
7:30 P.M.	Pacific Grove Community Center 515 Junipero, Pacific Grove

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 9 (Formal Public Hearing)

7:30 P.M.	Monterey City Council Chambers City Hall, Monterey (regular MPWMD Board meeting)

If you would rather not speak in public, written comments on the Draft EIR/EIS will be accepted until Tuesday, November 24, 1987. Our address is MPWMD, P.O. Box 85, Monterey, CA 93942.
